MRS. ROB tends to her duties in the office as well as looks after her girls.

MRS. ROB often takes us for short drives in her car.

We girls often spend an hour with MRS. ROB, discussing our problems, reviewing the events of the week, or just plain talking.

To our Junior sponsor, who so efficiently guided us, as individuals and as a class, through our first year at Sullins;

To our Senior hostess, whose guidance and sincerity have helped to cultivate in us a love for the finer things of life;

To our Senior mother, who has meant much to us, not only in helping us to solve personal problems but also by being a true friend who is always willing to take time to talk to us—

To MRS. G. L. ROBINSON—better known to us as "Mrs. Rob"—we, the Sullins College Seniors, affectionately dedicate Sampler 1946.

Since both the writing and the receiving of letters are of major interest to us here at Sullins and occupy a great deal of our time, the Sampler staff thought it most appropriate to use letters as the theme of Sampler '46.

We have used sketches such as are now widely used on some stationery in trying to suggest the informality and gaiety found throughout the year on the Sullins College campus.

In this Sampler, we have attempted to present Sullins College as we see it. We hope that through reading these pages you will always find the Sullins you have known and that this past year will forever be a vivid memory kept alive by the record given here.

Amelia Barbour Martin

Dean of Girls

From the very first moment that we met Mrs. Martin, we were aware of her charming manner and graciousness. She soon became an inspiration to all of us, and we delight in talking with her not only in the home office but also in her home at the lovely teas that she gives throughout the year.

Mrs. Martin has an infallible memory, and her calling us by name in such a short time after we arrive at Sullins does much toward making us feel more at ease and less homesick. As Dean of Girls, she is never too busy to talk over with us our problems and to give us sound advice.

She often gives talks in chapel, and her ability to speak interestingly on any subject makes her an ideal to us all. We enjoy hearing her talk about anything, from Edwin Abbey's painting, "King Lear," to the first ladies of our land.

We shall not soon forget Mrs. Martin, for her grace, charm, patience, understanding and quiet dignity are characteristics which we shall always admire in our Sullins first lady.

President

Dr. Martin is a man whom we at Sullins will never forget. From the very first day of school throughout the year he inspires us all through his genial manner and remarkable sense of humor. His many talks in chapel have a profound influence on our daily lives and do much to make them richer and fuller.

He is always interested in our activities and is willing and eager to do all he can to help us in all ways. His sincere interest in our happiness and his never-ending patience with us have won our love and admiration. We shall never forget his radiant smile.

His love of nature and of horses is well known to us, for he is always urging us to observe the lovely flowers on the campus when they first begin to bloom in early spring, and everyone knows that he wouldn't miss a Sunday afternoon ride on the trails.

Yes, Dr. Martin is certainly a part of Sullins that will remain in our memories of our college days long after we have graduated.

William T Martin

Vice-President

Mr. William Martin, son of Dr. and Mrs. Martin, came to Sullins this year as vice-president of the college. He has rapidly made a place for himself, for he is always anxious and willing to help us in any way.

After receiving his A.B. degree from Washington and Lee University, he attended Harvard, where he received his LL.B. degree. He worked for the Tennessee Valley Authority for a year and then came to Sullins in 1938-1939 to teach economics and business law. He then spent a year and a half in Portland, Oregon, working for the Department of Interior. For the past five years he has been in New York City working on the reorganization of the Associated Gas and Electric System.

Mr. and Mrs. Martin and their four lovely children live in the white cottage on the campus. They have become real friends to all the girls, and we are fortunate in having them at Sullins.

In the session of 1945-1946 of Sullins College, the enrollment includes three hundred and seventy-nine boarding students and thirty-six day students.

The senior class is one of the largest Sullins has ever had. Of the one hundred and three seniors, there are forty-six who are enrolled in the academic course leading to the general diploma or certificate. There are twenty-two students working toward a diploma or certificate in secretarial studies. Others are working for diplomas or certificates in piano, voice, dramatic art, speech, various fields in art, home economics, and physical education.

There are two hundred and thirty Juniors. One hundred and seven of them are enrolled in the academic or literary course. The largest number of juniors enrolled in any one course is in freshman English. In this course the students study the essentials of grammar and composition, struggle with spelling, and read Alice in Wonderland.

There are ten students working toward either a diploma or certificate in some phase of music —piano, voice, organ, or violin, and fifteen toward a diploma or certificate in dramatic art.

Twenty-three students are specializing in home economics, and twenty-nine in some phase of art.

Of the languages, Spanish seems to be the most popular in the College what with one hundred and three students enrolled in Spanish classes and only sixty-two in college French. This also holds true in the Academy, for there are thirty-six students enrolled in Spanish, seventeen in French, and twelve in Latin.

In the Academy there are eighty-three students, thirty-five of whom are seniors. Four years of high school are offered in the Academy, and the students are prepared to enter college or university without entrance examinations.

Both the academy and college students are required to take physical education. Each academy student must have five hours a week and each college student, three. The students are allowed to select their physical education classes from dancing, individual gym, archery, badminton, basketball, hockey, riding, soccer, swimming, table tennis, and tennis. Individual gym and swimming are required of all students.

We are entertained throughout the year by the students of the music department. They appear on student recitals which are given every two or three weeks. The music for our vesper services is furnished by our Vested Choir, under the direction of Mr. Kreiner and accompanied by Mr. Loomis at the organ. The Glee Club also gives us concerts and sings in the Messiah.

The students in the secretarial department learn to be efficient secretaries and stenographers.

The home economics department teaches the girls to be capable housewives. In the sewing classes, they learn not only to make their clothes but also to design them. In food classes, Sullins girls learn how to plan, prepare, and serve attractive meals.

As this first peace time session draws to a close, we all feel thankful that we have had the opportunity of continuing our education. We have all accomplished a great deal, and we leave with the certainty that we are better able to face our problems.

Life at Sullins

New girls learn this business of checking out.

September 16, 1945

Dear Jane,

At seems so good to be back at Sullins! So many of the girls of last year have come back, and it is certainly wonderful seeing them all again.

Our Senior hostess, Mrs. "Rob," is an old friend of ours. She was a Junior hostess and sponsor of the Junior class last year. All of us are glad that she has "moved up" with us.

Last Friday night we all went down to the Hut Party. It was a "get-together" party and also served as an introduction to Senior talent. Everybody sat spellbound as Marty sang "Temptation." Then Pat gave a heartbreaking rendition of "Nobody's Gonna Clothe My Pore Little Back," and C. J. topped off the evening by reciting that lovely old Sullins' classic, "Peanut Butter."

Yesterday, the whole school went over to Camp Sequoya for the Lake Day picnic. Dr. Martin umpired a fast game of baseball between the Seniors and the Juniors. The Seniors won—this time.

Mrs. Martin gave a tea this afternoon, and it is the custom for the Seniors to introduce the Juniors to the members of the faculty. The tea gave us Seniors opportunity to meet the new members of the faculty, also, and it was a lovely affair—especially the punch and cookies.

Tomorrow will be the first Monday at Sullins, and I guess we will all troop down town to shop, take in a show, and see if Bristol has changed since we've been away. I remember how hard it was for us as Juniors last year to get used to checking out whenever we wanted to go anywhere. The eleven o'clock bell has just rung, so I had better say goodnight.

Love,
Susie

Dear Jane,

This business of being a Senior amounts to more than walking out of Chapel first! It's amazing how the teachers expect us to be twice as smart this fall as we were last spring. There's a long, hard trail awinding, I'm beginning to suspect, to that long black robe and mortar board.

Today is the first day of Rat Week, an initiation period for the Juniors. It is just too funny to see us Seniors ordering them to eat their mashed potatoes in a figure eight. They're not supposed to smile, of course, but I wonder how they keep from it when they see us grinning behind our napkins. Each of the Juniors at our table is supposed to tell a joke tonight at dinner, and I've been trying to think of something tragic all afternoon so as to be gloomy instead of giggling when the time arrives.

The seven-thirty bell just rang, and before I know it study hall will be over. There's not a moment to lose. "Is this a mortar board I see before me, the tassel toward my hand?"

Love,
Susie

We have learned the favorite pastime at Sullins.

October 1, 1945

Dear Jane,

Since you wrote me that you wanted to hear more about Rat Week, I'll have to tell you about Rat Court that ended Rat Week—and with a bang! After the worst was over, the Seniors rose and sang, "We came last fall together, strolled through the halls together. . ."

There were tears in the eyes of both Juniors and Seniors as the Juniors rose and followed our song with another. Rat Week was over, and all of us were glad. We were no longer Juniors and Seniors but "Sullins girls"—all of us. The program that followed was wonderful, with P. Thorp, Peachy, B. Agsten, and Marty all contributing.

We had our intelligence tests in psychology class today. I heard Mae Lilly (who isn't fooling anyone) groaning, "And they didn't find out until her sophomore year in college!" recalling the story that Miss Guthrie had told us about the discovery of a moron who was preparing for a teaching career. October 8, 1945

Dear Jane,

All afternoon Margie and I shopped for our "capsules" (explanation in the next paragraph) down town, and all evening we listened to a lecture on India. Where, oh where did Monday go?

I'll explain about Capsule Week. Everyone in school, students and faculty, draws a name, and every day during Capsule Week each of us gives the person whose name she drew an inexpensive present, in secret. We have lots of fun finding cute things for gifts and trying to think up appropriate little verses to accompany them.

I bought my "capsule" a yo-yo yesterday, and I have been playing with it ever since. Saturday night there will be a party at the Hut, at which the secret benefactors will reveal themselves

You wrote me about the tea you attended, so I must tell you about our Senior-Junior reception. It was lovely. Each Senior escorted two or three Juniors down to the Senior dining room, which was beautifully decorated in yellow and green. It was such a good feeling to know, for once, everyone in the receiving line. Best of all were the delicious cucumber sandwiches and the good coffee—courtesy of the Home Economics Department.

Write me soon and tell me what's happening at home.

Love,
Susie

The Seniors give the Juniors a gracious welcome.

Getting in those eight hours?

October 17, 1945

Dear Jane,

I surely wished for you at the Hut Party ending Capsule Week Saturday night. Pat Barton played some of your favorite music—the "Warsaw Concerto" and "Clair de Lune." Everyone was very enthusiastic. It's amazing how everyone is suddenly "swooning" over the classics.

The Friday night before the party, we had a fire drill. The bell rang at twelve-thirty, but just by coincidence neither Margie nor I had gone to sleep. Everyone got her little towel and coat and paraded down the stairs. We stood outside by the kitchen for fifteen minutes, and then went back up to bed until the seven o'clock bell, which is not a false alarm, rang.

You should have heard the sigh of ecstasy that arose from the Senior Class when it was announced that the Vesper service last Sunday was to be an organ recital. That first organ recital of the year certainly lived up to our expectations.

I hope I find a letter from you in my box this afternoon.

Love,
Susie

October 20, 1946

Dear Jane,

Well, I have just come up from the Sampler dance and hung up my formal. It was our first dance for the year, and it was really wonderful. In spite of the scarcity of crepe paper, Nan Christopher's decorations were lovely, especially the lighted Jack o'lanterns lining the walls. We kept one eye on them all evening, but, no, the gym did not go up in flames. If all the dances are as wonderful as this first one, we all have something to look forward to!

Here it is twelve-thirty! Goodnight for this time.

Love,
Susie

November 3, 1945

Dear Jane,

Last Saturday night (which is rarely lonely at Sullins) the Juniors gave their annual Hallowe'en party. The decorations really made the old Hut look festive, and the ghost story told in the dark by the light of a flickering candle put everyone in the right shivery Hallowe'en mood. Carol Holt and Bonnie Butts entertained an appreciative audience.

Tonight we went to the Tennessee Club Party. The refreshments were out of this world—hot biscuits with cheese, jam, or hamburger between the halves, huge bowls of popcorn, and both plain and chocolate milk. The best costume contest was held as the grand finale. "Hairless Joe," complete with jug, and "Lonesome Polecat" in red flannels were the winners. Joe and Polecat, I might add, are better known to their friends as Betsy and Suzi.

Intermission—with dates!

Last Tuesday all Sullins went out to the Holston Mountain for the Rotary Club picnic. We rode out in cars with the Rotarians and felt extremely important riding through Bristol with a police escort.

At the picnic grounds, the policemen were persuaded to take us riding on their motorcycles. That pioneer, Harriet Otey, was the first to tear down the road in a cloud of dust. From that moment the officers were kept busy carrying passengers until the food began to be served. Having eaten, we sat and talked around a huge bonfire until it was time to go home. Don't you wish that you had been here?

November 13, 1945

Dear Jane,

I'm all dressed up in my new black formal for Jennie Tourel's concert, the first of the season, at the Tennessee High School. The buses aren't due for half an hour, so I'm taking this opportunity to answer your last letter. I surely hope my dress survives that bus ride!

We have had a busy week. The Academy had their Open House a few nights ago, and last night we attended a lecture by Louis Fischer on Russia and the atomic bomb. He surely presented a cloudy picture of the future.

Speaking of futures, I had my fortune told at the Midwest Carnival Saturday night. The Hut was a very reasonable facsimile of a Carnival with posters, booths, and barkers. The "gypsy" fortune teller said that I would "travel and meet a dark man" (the pullman porter, no doubt).

At the dart game, I won a chance on a cake, and at the fishpond, I hooked a pair of earrings. After a bottle of chocolate milk and a handful of cookies, all of us joined the fast and furious Bingo game on the porch. It was all fun, but someone else won that cake!

Well, I'm off to the concert. Say hello for me to all the gang.

P.S. (After the concert—eleven-thirty) She sang the "Habanera," and no one stepped on my dress. The evening was a success!

Dear Jane,

Wasn't Thanksgiving a welcome holiday? Or have you been working as hard as I have? Our tables were decorated with colorful autumn leaves and fruit, and we ate the traditional turkey and all that goes with it. I wish that Thanksgiving came more often!

Saturday before last we all attended the annual Day Students' Tea. It was held this year at Martha Jean Boswell's home on Lee Heights, and it was a lovely affair. It was wonderful being in a real home again.

The Black and White Ball was a wonderful success, and I have never seen the gym decorated more beautifully. Soft blue lights filtered through the black and white streamers and over the dancers. The walls were covered with snowscenes done in black and white—a real "winter wonderland."

Winter wonderland at the Black and White Ball.

Dr. Tilley—auctioneer at the bond sale.

All this "beautifying" was done by Larry Moston and the other inmates of fourth floor Senior. The Seniors all appreciated the bowl of lovely white chrysanthemums given by Mrs. "Rob" to greet the incoming guests in the front hall.

Tonight the whole school saw an exhibition of Sullins' dramatic art. Sullins would be a fertile ground for any wandering talent scout, as anyone who attended the performance of Brief Music will agree. It was a perfect picture of college life, and even bore some faint resemblances to Sullins! We're still wondering where Jane got that bottle.

I'll write again soon.

Love,
Susie

December 7, 1945

Dear Jane,

We had an exciting time at the War Bond rally at the Hut last Saturday night. A lot of bonds were sold, and everyone had a good time bidding on the unusual things auctioned. It was a rare treat to see Miss Milbrandt and Dean Metts bidding against each other for a carton of Chesterfields and a box of matches. Miss Milbrandt won.

The event of the week was the Junior-Senior Banquet. The tables in the dining room were decorated with silver leaves and red wax candles, and the pillars, hung with frilly red crepe paper, added a very festive touch.

After the speeches, the entertainment began, and it was then that the long awaited announcement of the identity of the King and Queen of Mardi Gras was made. The student body had chosen Helen Civil and Suzanne Allen to reign over the approaching festival.

After the banquet we all gathered around the fire in the Blue Parlor and sang Christmas carols. It seemed almost impossible that Christmas was almost upon us.

The Academy had their banquet at the General Shelby Hotel on Monday. The most striking of the decorations, I heard, was Marilyn Eaton's huge, jolly Santa Claus with his bag crammed full of Christmas cheer. Peg Frost and Dr. Martin made the speeches of the evening, and Pat Martin sang the traditional "O Holy Night." Afterwards, the whole class took in a movie.

I'll be seeing you in a couple of weeks. Until then,

Love,
Susie

December 12, 1945

Dear Jane,

Everyone is so rushed this last week. There seems to be frenzied activity going on everywhere. I've just come from the pressing room, where I thought I would press my formal for the Chorus recital tonight, and it was jammed to the door with other little girls who had the same idea! The recital should be good after all those extra rehearsals we've been crowding in this past week. We all wear pastel dresses and sing our carols by candlelight (flattering, we hope).

The "Messiah" was sung by the Bristol Community Chorus last Sunday night at the Paramount Theatre. They gave a wonderful presentation of the oratorio.

Last Saturday was Sullins' famous Christmas Tree for the children. Our two suites fixed up a big box of toys and clothes. All the boxes were placed on the stage with a beautiful Christmas tree. While the children came in, we all sang Christmas carols, and when "Santa" called out "our" child's name, we were more excited than she was. It was so much fun playing Santa Claus.

This time next week, I'll be seeing you in person. I expect you to meet me at the station!

January 19, 1946

Dear Jane,

I know that you're mad because I haven't written sooner, but honestly, no sooner did I get back to school than I began working on that history paper. Now that that's done, exams are staring me in the face. How I envy you people who have already had your exams.

The Chorus Carols give us the Christmas spirit.

Everyone here is so giddy from studying that the other day in English class, when we should have been studying for our test on the Eighteenth Century, we were knocking ourselves out over the "Faerie Queen." C. J. even had two versions.

Vincent Sheean gave a lecture at Tennessee Hi the other night, and of course all Sullins was there —eventually. After waiting forty-five minutes in beautiful moonlight and a cold wind, we were very glad to see our tardy buses coming up the hill. When we arrived, we found that the lecture had been held for us. Don't you think we felt important?

Well, surprise! The girls from across the hall just brought us some cheeseburgers and shakes from town! I will enclose a crumb.

The dear girls have settled down on our beds and are starting a bridge game, and old "no-trump" Altgelt, quite a music lover, is sounding off on her favorite topic. Concentration is impossible under the circumstances, so I'll sign off and join the party.

February 9, 1946

Dear Jane,

We managed to get through exams with sanity undamaged, and now things are returning to normal.

The Villagers' Club held their Valentine Dance last Saturday night, and it was certainly a gay and colorful affair. Big red hearts decorated the walls, and red and white streamers fluttered from the ceiling. A revolving spotlight created a very pretty effect among the dancers. The gym was crowded to the very doors, and the abundant supply of "town boys" was gratifying. The "Villagers" and their friends certainly showed us a good time.

The Juniors had their Open House last Thursday, and we

Seniors are really going to have to work to equal their accomplishment. The rooms were spotless. I never before saw such a large and varied display of Varga girls and "Back Home for Keeps" pictures. I even saw some that you didn't have! Not to say a great many that I don't have!

Tonight there was a party at the Hut honoring the new girls who began school this semester. Those refreshments, in the form of ice cream sandwiches, were so popular with my roommate that I could hardly drag her back up the hill. Now she wants to go to sleep, so goodnight for now.

clean white curtains, and no one looked under the beds or in the corners. We really should have taken a picture of our room as an example of what its possibilities really are.

Sunday, we went down to the Hoofprints' Tea in honor of Dr. Martin's birthday. The grand cake-cutting was held while we were there, and each of us got a piece. It surely was good.

Monday night, we heard the Baltimore Symphony. We had a wonderful time trying to name all the instruments (there was one shaped like a hair-pin that we never did decide upon), and the music was superb.

Fun and laughter at Senior open house.

A deep breath for your wish, Dr. Martin.

Everyone is madly preparing for Mardi Gras. The dancers have completely taken over the gym, and the Glee Club is anxiously practicing its three little songs. I've been driving my suite-mates mad for days by singing, "Lords and Ladies all are we . . ." over and over for hours at a time.

I'll write soon and tell you how Mardi Gras turns out.

We had a birthday dinner tonight honoring Dr. and Mrs. Martin. Although Mrs. Martin's birthday was last month, the party was a joint celebration. The speakers of the evening were Mr. Loomis, Barbara Greene, Mrs. Martin, Shirley Smith, B. Agsten, Dean Metts, and Dr. Martin. We were all fascinated by the ice cream, which had little red hatchets in the centers.

Dear Jane,

Mardi Gras, 1946, in all its beauty and pageantry has come and gone, but it will be long remembered. The legend of the "Snow Maiden" was the theme of Mardi Gras this year. Evelyn Culwell portrayed the part of the beautiful maiden who longed to be a mortal and to know the gaiety and warmth of human companionship.

The first act opened on a village square (background designed by Marilyn Eaton) where peasants, in celebration of the first day of May, were joyously dancing.

The dancers were Jeanne Boe, Jerre Baucum, Sara Wilcox, Sid-

The Snow Maiden suddenly appeared among the dancers. Awed by her frozen beauty, the peasants were frightened away. Only one young boy and his companions remained, entranced by her loveliness. The boy, Jeanne Boe, tried to show his friendliness, but when the Maiden rejected all his advances, he was persuaded by his friends to leave her in her isolation. When he had gone, she regretted her aloofness and longed for his return.

rulers, she and the boy joined in an ecstatic waltz. When the dance was ended, she was allowed to return to the village where she had found love and happiness.

Led by the King and Queen, the Lords and Ladies of the Court joined in a stately gavotte, following which the King and Queen led the procession from the stage to the music of Grieg's Recessional.

In the second act, winter had come, and the Maiden reappeared during a snowfight between the happy peasant children. All but one little girl were frightened away. The Maiden brought to life a snowman, Peggy Constantine; and as the three were dancing, the peasants reappeared upon the scene.

The peasants were Jeanne Bartholomew, Carol Orr, Margie Phelps, Sara Kuhnert, Betty Starling, Nancy Schmoele, Betsy Judkins, Mary Lou Griffith, Gracie Sherer, and Jayne Kerlin.

The Maiden had been transformed, and with the boy, whose friendship she now welcomed, she led the peasants in a gay and lively Polka.

The last act was laid at the beautiful Ice Palace in the Land of Snow. Here the Maiden had taken her new friends. The Lords and Ladies of the Court gathered in the white brilliance of the throne room, and the pages, Vera and Vivian Franklin, announced the entrance of the King and Queen. The royal pair, Helen Civil and Suzanne Allen, entered amid the admiration of all and were seated on their thrones. After the Snow Maiden had presented her friends to the gracious we all give our congratulations for a job well done. Most of all, to Miss Constance Hardinge, the guiding spirit of the Pageant, we give richly deserved praise for making Mardi Gras the thing of unforgettable beauty that it was.

Last night at the Mardi Gras Ball, we danced to the music of Dick Jones and his orchestra in a ballroom as colorful and beautiful as a rainbow with festoons of flowers and fluttering streamers. The climax of the ball was the Grand March led by Helen and Suzanne and their partners. Don't you agree that Mardi Gras week-

Tomorrow, the annual Science Club Bridge party will be held at the Hut. It will be an exciting time for us bridge fiends. For once we will have to keep score. I hope it doesn't throw us off our game!

The Academy dance, always one of the best dances of the year, will be an important social event in March. We are also looking forward to the movie to be sponsored by the Athletic Association.

Towards the end of March, the end is one of the brightest spots on the calendar of our Sullins days?

March 1, 1946

Dear Jane,

All that we Seniors have been thinking and talking about lately is that we have only three months left before Commencement. I remember how, last year, those crowded months—March, April and May—went by before we knew it. Today is the day that the weather will turn milder, and, if spring comes early, we shall all begin spending our leisure hours at the rock quarry, determined to have a Florida tan for our summer holiday.

April will see a lot of club banquets, including the Athletic Association Banquet, and the Junior Luncheon, at which the Senior officers for next year will be announced. I remember how, last year, we all enjoyed dressing up in our new spring outfits and lunching in style at the General Shelby Hotel.

all of us. B. Agsten, Anne Baysinger, and Jane Fisher will play in it. At the Home Economics Tea, given each year by the Juniors of that department, we shall have the delicious refreshments for which the Home Ec girls are noted.

After Senior exams are over and past (we hope!), Senior Week will begin. No other event of last year made so profound an effect upon me as did the procession of the Seniors, in caps and gowns, as they marched into chapel each

There were faces that were wet and voices that choked in the ranks both of those who marched and ot those who watched. How we envied the Seniors last year because they had that last week to do as they pleased—to pack, or shop, or just to be together, perhaps for the last time. And now we are Seniors!

I wish you would plan to come and stay all week. I can promise you plenty of entertainment - - - recitals, exhibits, the horse show, May Day, and just running around.

parents from all over the country will begin converging on the campus and crowding into the halls.

At last we shall meet those people that we've been hearing our roommates and suite-mates talk about all year long.

The Home Economics Style Show will be an important event for those of us who are style-conscious (and who isn't?). I know you will enjoy it. All the cute clothes exhibited are made by the girls who model them, so we applaud not only the attractiveness of the clothes but the talent of the models.

The Science Exhibit will interest you because of its display of the posters and projects of the science students. I remember how I accompanied a harried chemistry student last year on a tour of an odorous leather factory which she visited to get samples for her exhibit. We returned to school with so much leather that her poster collapsed under the weight.

The Commencement Horse Show will be a grand spectacle of plain and fancy riding. I hope that the sun shines on the chosen day, for last year we thought for a while that the horse show would be rained out of existence. The year couldn't officially end without a Commencement Horse Show though, and the rain stopped just in time for Jae Birk to win that trophy.

There was almost as much excitement as when Ann Weston was named the best "all-round athlete" for the year. Ann certainly deserved that cup she won.

On Friday at the May festival, we shall honor our beautiful May Queen, Ann Elebash, her lovely Maid of Honor, Nan Christopher, and the May Court of Sullins beauties.

You already know some of the members of the court: Jean Burt, Jane Dalrymple, Phyllis Pierce, Nancy Srygley, Betty Agsten, Pat Breech, Shirley Edmondson, Sallie O'Neal, Mary K. Smith, Sally Scribner, Mildred Brown, Martha Thomas, Athena Petroutsa, Elaine Huber, Martha Depass, Joy Dobry, Norma Dolph, Pat Donelson, Jane Herring, Sara Kay, Lillian McCleod, Winifred Manderson, Anne Baysinger, and Ruby Harris.

Heralded by the pages, Shirley Watkins and Jean Ellison, Ann and Nan will lead the procession of the court. When the Queen has been crowned and the court seated, the dance students will present a colorful program, assisted by the members of the Sullins Chorus.

The beautiful Academy Candlelight Ceremony will be held that night on the front campus. The light of flickering candles will shine brightly in the darkness as the Seniors and underclassman, dressed in white, form the letters "S. A." and sing songs dedicated to each other and to the school.

The Academy Graduation will be held the following morning with thirty-six girls getting their diplomas. That one morning they will march in alone, and the college Seniors will take a back seat.

That night in chapel the dramatic students of Sullins College will present the commencement play. We shall have to go early to get good seats—or any seat at all.

We will begin our last Sunday morning at Sullins as we began our first—by going to the State Street Methodist Episcopal Church. There we will hear the Baccalaureate Service. Sunday afternoon, the Seniors and all commencement guests will be entertained at a lovely tea at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Martin. There you will have a chance to meet all our faculty members.

The Daisy Chain Ceremony will begin late Sunday afternoon. In this beautiful and traditional ceremony the Seniors take their leave of the school and give it into the hands of the Juniors of this year—the Seniors of next.

The Seniors, in caps and gowns, will walk down the drive from Senior Wing singing, "Hail, Sullins College." The Juniors, white-clad and carrying the Daisy Chain, will come in silence from the other end of the drive, and the two classes will meet at the steps in front of the school. The Seniors will go down toward the vamp circle as the Juniors form two lines down the walks with the Daisy Chain forming an "S" in the center.

After each class has sung its song dedicated to the other, Milly, Betty, and Margie will present their caps and gowns to the new Senior Class officers, and the symbolical ivy will be planted. Then the two classes will turn and face the school, singing the Alma Mater. I hope you won't be too much embarrassed if I cry after that.

Commencement exercises will be held that night in the chapel. After the addresses and the awards, we shall receive our diplomas and certificates. We shall no longer be Seniors but Alumnae.

On that last night all the memories and experiences of the past two years will fill our minds. There are so many things that I shall always remember about Sullins—the serenades, the ramp in sunlight and starlight, the deep tones of the organ in the shadowy chapel, Dr. Martin's talks, hymn-singing in the morning, pancakes on Sunday, Monday mornings at the Hut—all these thoughts crowd through my mind when I think that the time for saying goodbye to everything is near.

When we have shut our doors upon the rooms so filled with memories, and when we have said goodbye to our friends—goodbye forever to some, we shall not be leaving Sullins behind us. Our Sullins days with their friendships and memories will remain forever a part of our hearts.

This has been a long letter, Jane, but it is over now.

Love,
Susie

When Saturday

7:20 a.m. The alarm goes off giving us just ten minutes to dress and rush down for breakfast. Tex is late as usual, so we try to save her a seat.

8:00 a.m. After a hearty breakfast, the student body meets in the chapel for one of Dr. Martin's "heart-to-heart" talks. I wonder if I'll ever be that wise?

8:30 a.m. Science lecture—my first period class. After taking notes all period on bacteria, fungi, and algae, my hand is numb; but I manage to scramble up the stairs to meet Anne for our next class.

9:25 a.m. I have a chapter on "Memory" to read for psychology; but when Miss Guthrie calls on me, I find that my mind isn't working too well—all I can think of is mail call and the wonderful week-end ahead.

10:20 a.m. "Mail's up" echoes through the halls, and Jane comes in loaded down with books, music, and a letter for each of us. Oh Happy Day! After "Who did you hear from?" and "What did he say?" I settle down and try to write a speech on War—me, of all people, writing on war.

11:15 a.m. I volunteer to be first and get my speech over with so that I can sit back and enjoy the others—a good way to keep up with all the current events.

12:10 p.m. Free period and finding something to do in this time is no problem. Just as I decide to sit down and hurriedly write a note to a long-lost friend (or one who will be a lost friend if I don't write), Ruby comes bounding into the room. She wants to talk, so how can I write with conversation calling?

1:05 p.m. Lunch and a mad rush for the dining room. Somehow or other conversation seems always to be quite lively at lunch—especially on Saturday, when everyone is already making plans for the week-end.

2:00 p.m. Time to gather the laundry together and head for the laundry room. Ruby has an out-of-town date, so I drag her bag down too. I bet I know who's going to take down whose laundry next Saturday! Now that the laundry job is taken care of, I shall go and see if the mail is up. As usual I stand and wait —and as usual no mail when I wait. Oh, well maybe somebody will let me share her mail for the pleasure of reading a letter. On the way back to the room, I see Norma and can't resist stopping and talking about the dance tonight—we agree that it should be one of the best yet.

3:00 p.m. With our hair rolled up and tied in a kerchief, "Pill" and I rush to the Hut to get food for the midnight feast after the dance. We decide to stay for awhile and have a hamburger and coke.

It seems that all the school is enjoying a holiday, for there isn't room for another person here. Saturday afternoons at the Hut are one of the pictures of Sullins that I will never forget.

Some of the girls choose relaxation and an afternoon of bridge while others like myself had rather dance. Mrs. Andrews always has food for us, just in case we should get hungry later in the afternoon.

5:30 p.m. Time for Saturday supper and a real mad rush, because we have optional seats over the week-end. We wonder why we came down to supper after having eaten all that "krap" this afternoon.

6:00 p.m. Now to busy myself getting ready for the week-end. So I begin by getting in my favorite position on the floor (although there is hardly room on the floor with all the junk cluttering up the floor). Comfortable at last—boy, am I going to knock them out with this new shade of nail polish!

8:00 p.m. Time for the dance and I find myself standing in the front hall looking for my date. From there we go down to the dining room decorated in pastel colors and looking quite different from the way it looked at lunch.

The first person I see is C. J. dressed in a beautiful red dress dancing with some handsome lieutenant.

Everyone seems to be having the time of her life, and when the orchestra plays the last piece, we all agree that it is the best dance we have had in ages.

12:00 a.m. The dance over, we escort our dates to the door and bid them goodnight. Now, back to the room for that feast—milk, fried chicken from home, and that chocolate cake saved for this special occasion. We finally exhaust ourselves by talking and eating and fall into bed a group of happy but tired girls.

SUNDAY

8:00 a.m.We all get up for breakfast because we have pancakes on Sunday. We take an unusually long time to eat this Sunday morning, because we all want a second —or a third or a fourth—pancake; and we are still discussing the dance.

10:15 a.m. Roll call for church. I have to look twice to recognize Sara this morning. Only yesterday, she wore a skirt, sweater, hair in pigtails, and saddle shoes; but today, in her brown suit with dainty yellow blouse, she looks like a picture from Mademoiselle.

Mrs. Rob has on a new hat—black with feathers on the top—and she looks stunning as usual.

Here we stand waiting for the buses again. It is really unbelievable how different everyone is dressed this morning from the usual skirt and sweater. As I stand here and look over the girls waiting for the buses, I see one girl in particular whose hat I would like very much to have.

1:00 p.m. We are back from church and ready for a Sunday dinner of chicken and all the trimmings.

After "stuffing" ourselves at dinner, we are now eager to dash up the flights of stairs and turn on the radio, so that we can relax and listen to the soothing music and poetry of Sammy Kaye.

2:00 p.m. Dates begin to arrive and Sullins resembles all other college campuses on Sunday afternoons. We take three rolls of film—I can't wait to see if the one of Barb came out. She looked so funny peeping from behind that tree.

5:00 p.m. Our dates are gone, so we play records and listen to our favorite pieces. I just can't resist "Symphony" and "Stardust" at any time.

While playing the records I inquire into the activities of those girls who didn't have dates. "I got five letters written," exclaimed a voice from somewhere over in the bed. I can see someone busily writing and using her knees for a prop.

Then I see a weary figure come into the room and plop down on the floor—and what has she been doing to be so worn out? I can tell at first glance that this particular Susie has just completed a two-weeks collection of washing. Now Johnny is complaining of having dish-pan hands.

5:30 p.m. Tea—and starving as usual we run down the stairs to begin the impossible job of satisfying our appetites.

6:10 p.m. Vespers. Mr. Loomis gave a beautiful organ recital. He played "Ave Maria" and, of course, I just had to cry a little.

7:00 p.m. Date time again—Jean and Mary look so nice as they go down to meet their dates. I wonder who the nice-looking man Elebash has a date with is? He must be from out of town, because I haven't seen him around before.

9:00 p.m. I check in the office and return to the parlor where we sit and talk.

10:00 p.m. "Tell the young ladies goodnight," says Mrs. Platt, and we know it's time for our dates to leave. Upon returning to the room I find that the girls have been gathered around eating, writing letters, and mostly just talking.

Some industrious soul comes wandering in with a book under her arm. Much to our amazement Jean has spent the evening in preparing for Tuesday's classes so that she can go to town Monday with an easy conscience.

MONDAY

7:00 a.m. Bell—all is quiet.

8:00 a.m. Another bell—still all is quiet.

10:00 a.m. "Rise and shine and down to the Hut we go" is our theme song. I'm usually one of the last there so I have to stand in line as usual to get some of Hester's good cinnamon toast and coffee.

12:00 p.m. Since my allowance is rather generous this month, I think that I can afford to go to the "Colonial Grill" for a lunch of fried shrimp—a wonderful treat.

I see Nannie, LaVoe, Kit, and Tut there too. Over in the corner, sits the "Fourth Floor Senior" crowd. Sullins takes over on Monday in Bristol.

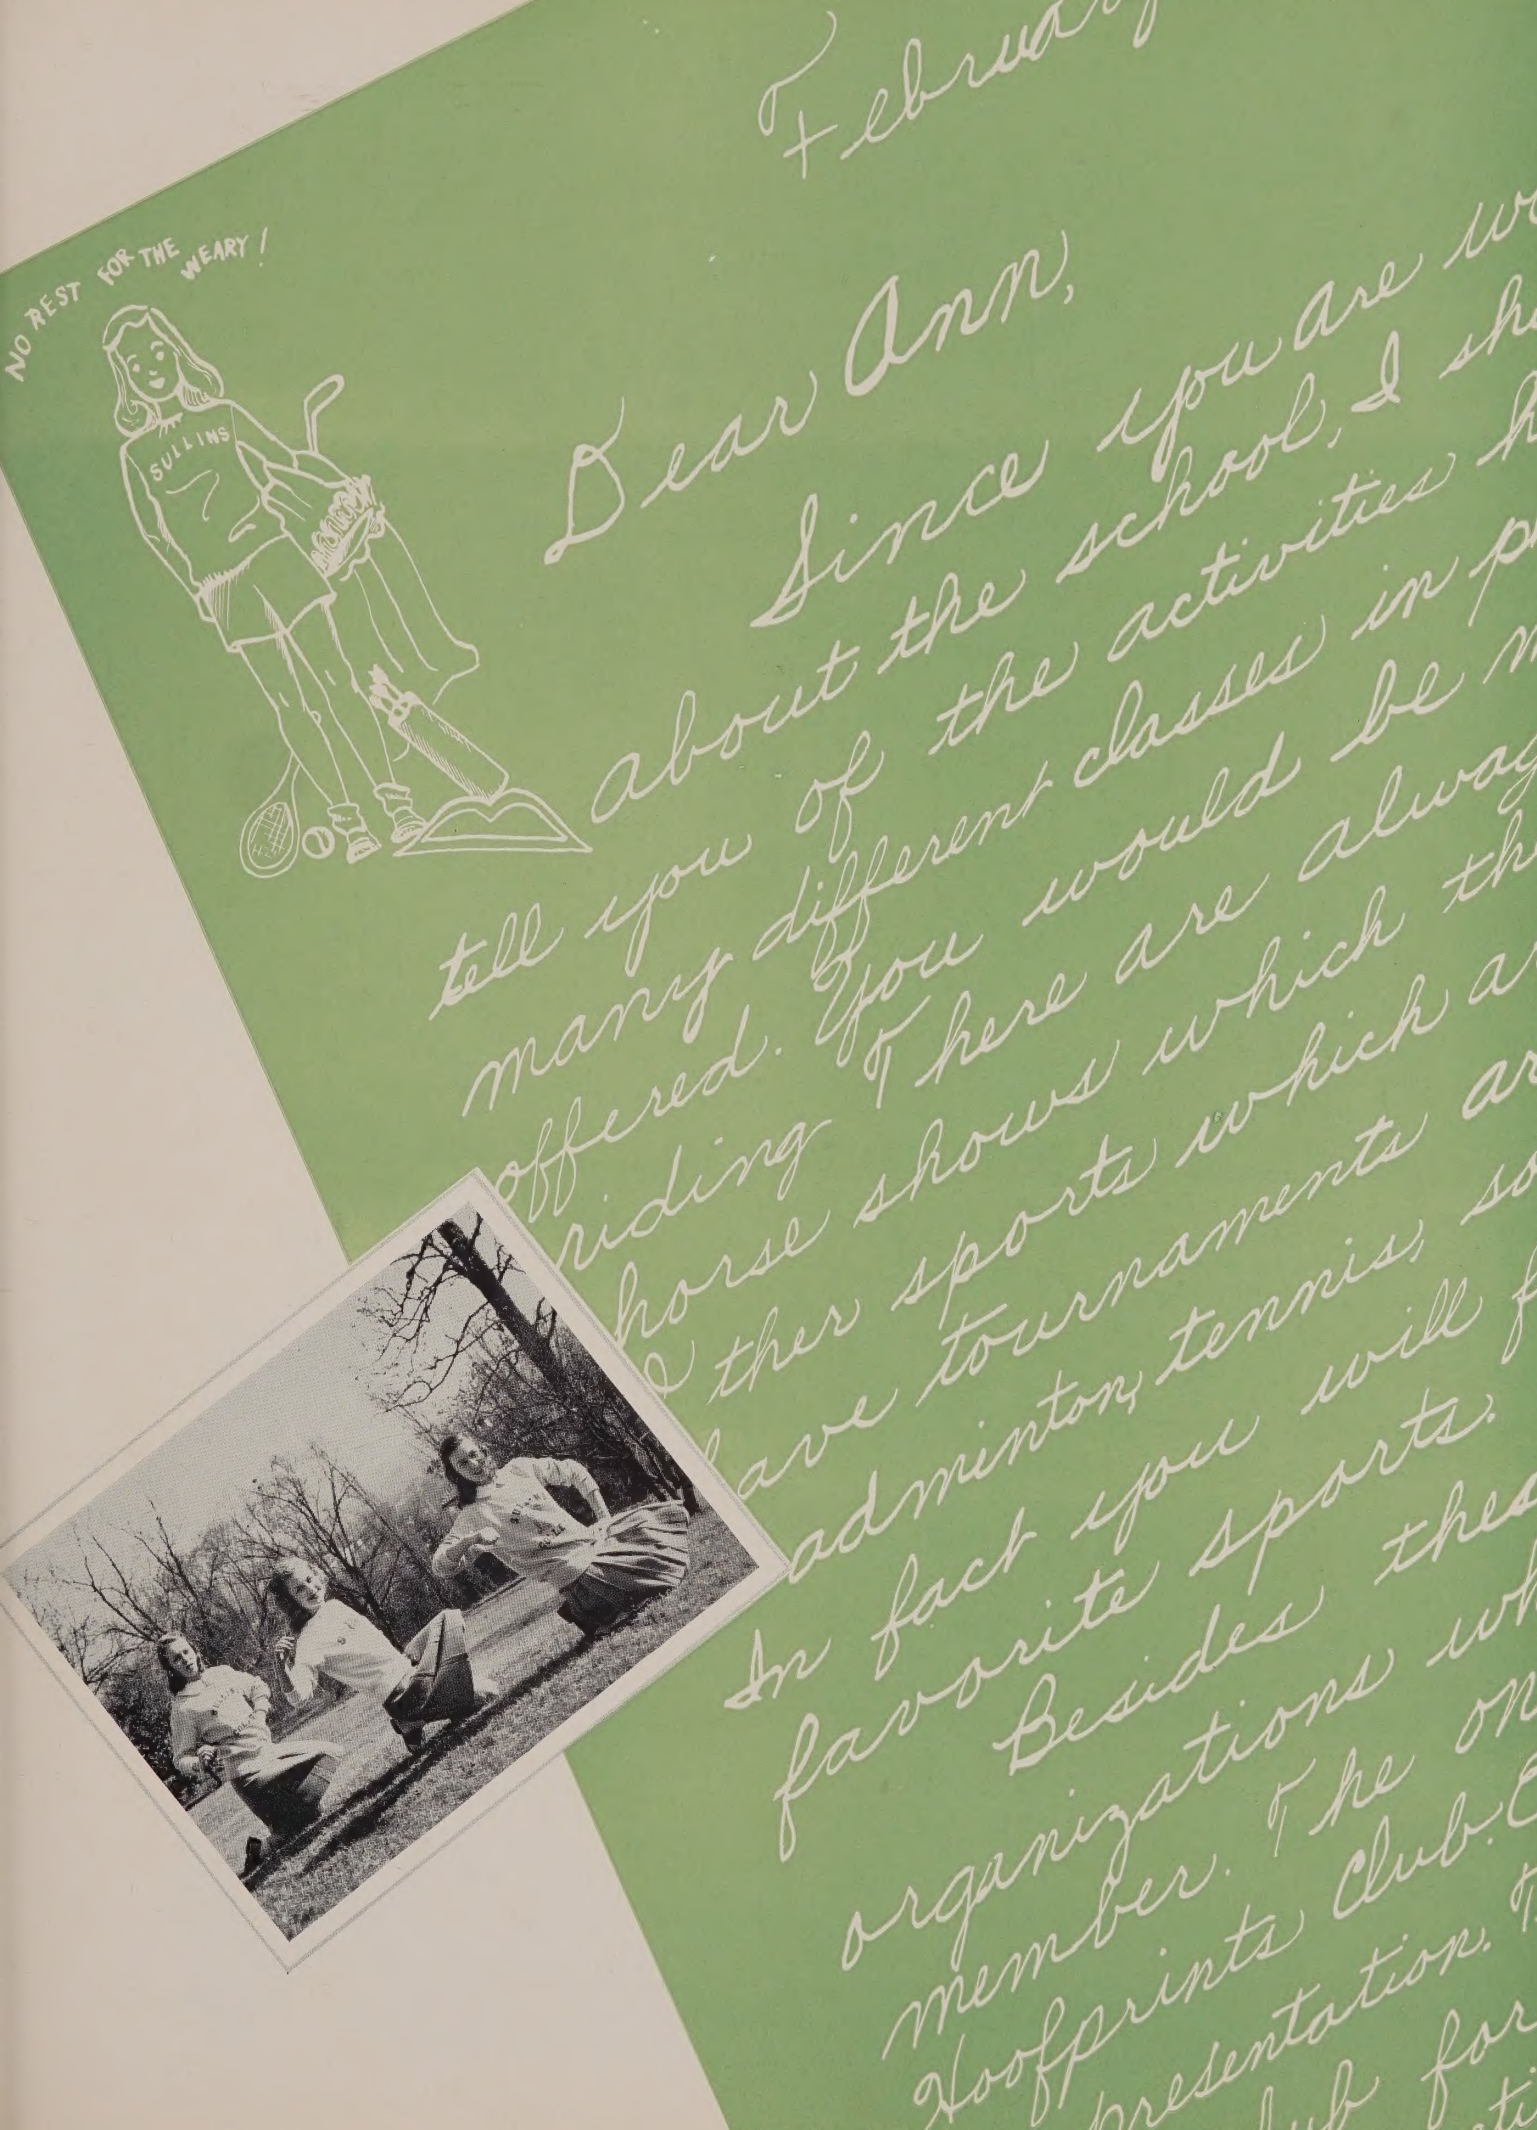
2:00 p.m. Now the question is "What show shall we see?" For once I win and we see Van Johnson.

4:30 p.m. Just time to look at that pair of shoes I've wanted for so long. Oh well, maybe next month I can get them.

5:30 p.m. As we check back in on the Senior book, we see Jeanne and Margaret with their arms filled with grocery bundles—no doubt, an entire week's supply of food.

6:00 p.m. Dinner—I don't see how I can eat a thing after that popcorn, candy, and peanuts topped with a fudge sundae.

7:30 p.m. Study hall again but I just can't seem to get down to serious work after such an exciting week-end. My only consolation is that in five days another Saturday will be here and all the fun will start again.



NO REST FOR THE WEARY!
SULLINS

One of the most valuable assets acquired at Sullins is learning how to work together—whether it be in athletic team sports or in the various organizations. Sullins offers such a number of different activities that every girl has an opportunity to acquire or to improve the ability to get along with others.

Through these activities we have not only learned the principles of co-operation but also learned that co-operation is necessary in our everyday lives.

Since Sullins has a democratic form of government under the Student Council, we have learned that all must work together in order to make a democratic institution exist. We sincerely believe that the activities at Sullins offer great opportunities for self-improvement in the fields of co-operation, which is an essential in our lives both here and out in the world.

national honors and first place in the state.

Marjorie Akers, editor-in-chief of Sampler 1946, and Miss Ruth V. Milbrandt, faculty adviser, called the first meeting of the entire staff in September. As soon as the cover of the book, the theme, and other main points were decided upon, each member pondered as to how to make her section endearing to the hearts of all Sullins girls.

During the first two months of school, the one thing prominent in every staff member's mind was the return of the camera (In the preceding June it had been sent to the factory for repairs); finally it returned on November 10. To the relief of all, ideas of an annual with no informal pictures promptly disappeared.

Mae Lilly, our business manager, became busy collecting fees and giving financial advice for the dance sponsored by the Sampler staff in October.

Our art editors, Nan Christopher and Harriet Otey, submitted drawings for our approval in the fall; and by Christmas vacation, they had most of the art work in. Later, working with Miss Milbrandt and Marjorie, they planned the layout of the book.

October brought appointments for picture taking as Ann Elebash undertook her responsibility. Bar-

In 1896-97 The Annals, the first Sullins College annual, appeared in booklet form. By 1907 the name of the book had changed to Rosemary and in 1917 it was known as the Brown Book. After 1921, when the Crystal Ball came out, the name was changed once. Since 1922 we have had the Sullins Sampler.

Previous Samplers have many times won ratings of All-American in the National Scholastic Press Association and Medalist in the Columbia Scholastic Press Association. Every year we try to equal Sampler 1941, which won both

The Reflector Staff

The Mardi Gras issue kept Marilyn, Mary Lou, and Beulah busy.

Once each month, the school paper, the Reflector, is put out by the Journalism students. The main edition is the Christmas issue, which is sent to all alumnae.

Miss Mabel Dollins, faculty adviser and teacher of journalism, has done much to train the editors and to further the interest of the girls in this field of work.

At the beginning of the year, Miss Dollins had each member of the class submit a sample of her work. On the merit of these articles, she appointed the girls to the positions they have held throughout the year.

Barbara Ellet and Patty Richardson have been the competent co-editors. Their associate editors, Mary Lou Buck and Marilyn Schweer, have written the features, while Beulah Wood has been keeping us in contact with the Sullins girls who came before our years here.

Beverly Carpenter and Dolores Lilly have given us up-to-date facts on the athletic side of Sullins life. Those afternoons of walking the Bristol streets for ads for the Reflector are almost over for Patricia Shull and Sally Ann Shreve.

The staff plans the Mardi Gras edition of the Reflector.

The Student Council

In every college there must be someone or something to maintain established rules. Such is the Student Council. This group is not just to try girls who have broken rules but to promote cooperation between the students and faculty for a more enjoyable life for all. Some of their tasks are not pleasant ones, but decisions that will best benefit all concerned are always reached.

The Spring Proms are sponsored annually by the Council. This year they succeeded in getting a name band, Stan Kenton and his orchestra.

The Council is made up of a representative number of students and faculty members. Betty Agsten is president, and Jo Ann Norris is vice-president.

The faculty members are Dr. and Mrs. Martin, Dean D. L. Metts, Mr. William T. Martin, Miss Bess Ava Guthrie, Miss Ruth V. Milbrandt, Miss Jane Gregg, Dr. Ethel Tilley, Miss Winnetta Thomas, and Miss Myra Stowe.

Senior class representatives are Nancy Layton, Mary Swan, and Lila Loveall.

Mary Lou Buck, Marilyn Curdes, Harriet Crutchfield, and Sue Marie Zike represented the Junior Class in the first semester. Peggy Bryson succeeded Harriet in the second.

The Academy representatives are Annette Alderman, Barbara Greene, and Carol Orr.

To remain on the Council, the members must keep a high scholastic standard. The presidents of the classes—Mildred Wines, Senior: Henrietta Swain, Junior; and Peggy Frost, Academy—also meet with the Council.

The Choir at the close of the Vesper service.

When Vespers is mentioned, we immediately think of the members of the vested choir in their black skirts and white robes. To the strains of "Day is Dying in the West," the choir ushers in our weekly Vesper service. At first the voices are heard offstage as though the girls were far away.

As the sounds come closer, the girls come out on the stage to take their places for the service. The perfect blending of the voices of the music students who make up this group will long remain in the memory of each Sullins girl.

One of the duets most enjoyed was "I Waited for the Lord," which was sung by Elaine Huber and Carol Holt. Of the solos, we remember most Carol Holt's singing "The Lord's Prayer" on Psalm Sunday and Elaine Huber's rendition of the "Twenty-third Psalm."

Mr. Raymond F. Kreiner directs the choir. During rehearsals, Miss Georgey Tait Sanford accompanied this group the second semester and Miss Georgette Winchester the first. For performances, Mr. Clifford C. Loomis is the organist.

This year a new benediction is being used, which gives the choir ample opportunity for displaying their beautiful quality of musical tones.

The girls in this group are a selected few chosen by Mr. Kreiner. He keeps in mind the combination of voices needed for a religious choir of this type. The music this group offers does much to further the spiritual atmosphere of our Vesper services.

It is a tradition for the Choir to sing the anthem "Seraphic Song" at the Baccalaureate Sermon. They will also sing "I Walked Today Where Jesus Walked." At the Commencement Exercises the Choir enters after the Seniors to take its place on the stage to sing "Agnus Dei."

One of the most interesting Vesper programs was the all musical one furnished by this group in the spring. Some of the selections were "The Lost Chord," "Prayer" from Hansel and Gretel, and "Were You There?" a negro spiritual.

The entrance of the Choir into the Chapel deviated from the usual entrance. The girls came down the aisles, met at the front of the auditorium, and walked on the stage in pairs. They left in pairs, walking down the aisles. This program was repeated at a Sunday night service at the State Street Methodist Church.

The Glee Club

Once again the "Sullins College Girls' Glee Club" has done work to be proud of. One of the most entertaining groups on the campus, the chorus practices to give us concerts and to accompany such pageants as Mardi Gras, which came February 22, and May Day, which is presented during Commencement Week. The group is made up of voice students and any other girls who are interested in this type of choral work.

Two main concerts are given annually—one just before Christmas and the other in the spring. The Candle Light Carol Concert in December was beautiful.

Mr. Clifford C. Loomis began the selections with "Christmas" from "Life of Christ" played on the organ. Soloists were Jean Ellison singing "Sweet Little Boy Jesus"; Carol Holt, "Christmas Candle"; and Elaine Huber, "Angel's Song." Favorites from the eight numbers done by the chorus as a whole were special arrangements of "Jingle Bells" and "Silent Night."

On May 17th the Glee Club and the Bristol Men's Chorus gave a joint recital at the Virginia High School. Some of the numbers sung by the Glee Club were "Take Joy Home," "Song of the Metronome," and "The Wind's in the South Today." The humorous song, "Three Little Maids," was one of the most popular with the audience.

The Men's Chorus and the Glee Club in combination sang, among others, "The Italian Street Song," with Carol Holt singing solo parts, and "Nocturne."

The Chapel was filled with melodious strains as this group held rehearsals each Wednesday afternoon. The fine work of these girls was under the direction of Mr. Raymond F. Kreiner, Director of the Voice Department. Misses Georgette Winchester and Georgey Tait Sanford are accompanists.

FIRST ROW: Mr. Kreiner, director; M. L. Perri, P. Martin, J. Ellison, S. Smith, N. Moncrief, first sopranos; B. Lindsey, M. Akers, S. Bondurant, second sopranos; M. Sykes, J. Norris, M. Smith, altos. SECOND ROW: B. Warner, first soprano; H. Swain, alto; J. Baucum, first soprano; J. Dobry, E. Huber, E. Wharton, P. Drisdale, J. Barkley, A. Davenport, second sopranos; I. Roberts, P. Kenzel, altos. THIRD ROW: A. Alderman, V. Balentine, M. Bickler, D. Wilson, E. Ericksen, first sopranos; B. Carpenter, A. Christopher, L. Lawrence, second sopranos; P. Petroutsa, R. Torbett, A. Brannan, P. DeaKyne, altos. FOURTH ROW: K. Hoelz, C. Holt, M. DePass, M. K. Smith, R. Harover, S. Hales, first sopranos; B. Wiley, P. Breech, B. Greene, second sopranos; J. Burr, W. The Chorus meets to be photographed.

Paint and Palette Club

Outdoor life class.

Our art club has done much to further the cultural interests of the girls here at Sullins. Besides the drawings which are displayed in the halls of the main building, these students have sponsored religious motion pictures in our Sunday night Vesper services.

Those nights you saw pajama-clad girls going up to the art department were probably the occasions of some of the many pajama parties from 10 till 10:20 at night.

The Christmas party held in the art department was a highlight of the year. The statues were decorated with stocking caps. Fruit, nuts, and fruit cake were served with cold drinks. Presents were exchanged among the girls and the sponsors.

In November of this term, this group sponsored the showing of a current movie, "Winter Carnival," in the Chapel. The annual "Night Club" party was held at the Hut in the spring. Martha DePass and Jean Ellison sang, Jeanne Boe danced, and Betsy Gammill and Pat Barton played the piano. Ruby Harris acted as master of ceremonies.

Nan Christopher has served as president; Lila Loveall, vice-president; Marge Buntin, secretary; and Mary Kinney, treasurer. Mrs. Nona Bunn Hodge and Miss Helen Berk directed the group in their class and club activities.

Members are Betty Allen, Thelmalee Allen, Mary Jane Angel, Jeanne Barkley, Martha Ann Bickler, Doris Brown, Marge Buntin, Beverly Carpenter, Cary Chapman, Rachel Coates, Nan Christopher, Betty Corrodi, Patricia Dailey, Barbara Daunton, Aleyda DeSoto, Joan Dryden, Shirley Evans.

Anita Gemmell, Mary Lou Griffith, Betsy Gudger, Jean Hildebrand, Barbara Howard, Courtney Ann Jay, Jayne Kerlin, Mary Kinney, Nancy Kirkland, Shirley Jennings, Phyllis Ledford, Betty Lindsey, Lila Loveall, Mary Lazopoulos, Dorothy Massey, Lorraine Moston, Phyllis Munson, Martha McClellan.

The Commercial Club

"I'm sorry—all outside lines are busy," will long remind the commercial students of their switchboard duty the second semester of school. Our business women of the future were learning the hard way—through experience.

The Commercial Club is open to all business students who maintain a B average. The initiation took place at a party at the Hut in the fall. It was then that the new members were introduced to the officers. Shirley Watkins is president; Jean Waller, vice-president; Lillian McLeod, secretary, Bonnie Kilbourne, treasurer; and Martha Henderson, publicity chairman.

Misses Margaret Johnson, Harriett Whetsell, Helen Walker, and Dorothy Seaberg, sponsors of the club, have done much to further the interest of the girls in the business world.

Remember when Jo won that game of Typewriter Bridge!

At one of the meetings the girls enjoyed learning to play typewriter bridge. In the fall and again in the spring the club had picnics at Steele's Creek for the whole Commercial Department.

Members of the group are Daisy Bailey, Jean Bartholomew, Doris Brown, Dorothy Bullock, Jeanne Burvenick, Nancy Butler, Helen Civil, Susan Cooper, Jean Edwards, Jean Ellison, Peggy Estes, Mary Edith Ewell.

Shirley Graham, Marilyn Hargrave, Martha Henderson, Edythe Hull, La Voe Johns, Sara Kay, Bonnie Kilbourne, Virginia Lee, Mae Lilly, Lillian McLeod, Jo Ann Norris, Marilyn Overbay.

Ella Hunn Payne, Jeanne Posey, Barbara Slater, Betty Starling, Nancy Sterner, Dolly Wilson, and Betty Young.

The Home Economics Club

Remember the Home Ec play in Chapel?

When the Home Economics Club met for the first time in September, it made plans for a more active year than ever before. The work of this group has been sponsored and directed by Misses Mary Esther Roberson and Lottie Simmons.

In November the bi-monthly meetings of the club turned into sewing bees. The girls made dolls for the orphaned children of the Janie Hammitt Home here in Bristol.

This year for the first time, the Home Economics Club sponsored the Christmas party for the underprivileged children of Bristol. Long will the expressions of unbelievable joy on each small child's face be remembered by the Sullins girls who took part in this project.

In May the Junior Foods class gave the annual tea for the Senior Class and Faculty. The Home Economics majors were honored guests.

The co-operation of the officers has done much to further the work this group has accomplished. Elsie Silverman is president, Mary Anne Buracker, vice-president; Susan Ainsworth, secretary; Peggy Bryson, treasurer; Betty Moore, reporter; and Shirley Jennings, program chairman.

The Radio Workshop

As we hear "On the hill stands Sullins College" on our radios, we know we are about to enjoy another Radio Workshop program. Under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Greene, a variety of entertaining programs are broadcast over station WOPI of Bristol each Thursday night.

This year new equipment has been installed which enables the group to present more varied broadcasts. To the girls who operate it, one of the most interesting of the new pieces of equipment is the turntable which among other things enables the sound effect of a telephone conversation to be made.

The membership of the club this year is the largest in the history of the Radio Workshop. Anyone interested in radio, even though not a member of the radio class, may join.

Pins are earned by attending all meetings and participating in at least one broadcast a month—whether typing or writing script, directing, or working controls. By working until she has at least 100 points, a member is entitled to a "Mike."

In the fall, the members of the workshop were taken on a tour of the new studios of WOPI. Afterwards they enjoyed a dinner at the Hotel Bristol.

Just before Christmas, the officers—Jean Burney, president; Laverne Wilson, vice-president; Norma Dolph, secretary; Jane McArthur, treasurer; Sallie Shreve, reporter; Martha McClellan, artist; Mary Swan, librarian—and the sponsor, Miss Greene, gave a surprise party for the group.

Members of the workshop were particularly grateful for the opportunity to do a number of special programs in sustaining time. That and the "Fan Mail" were great morale builders.

The annual banquet was held at the end of the year. At this time, the pins and "Mikes" were awarded.

The Science Club

Science Club Bridge Party at the Hut.

One of the oldest clubs in the college, the Science Club, is fast becoming one of the largest.

In 1919, Mrs. C. C. Loomis, who at that time was Miss Baldwin, organized the Chemistry Club, later known as the Club of Sullins Scientists. Miss Ruth B. Thomas, Miss Melia R. Reed, and Mrs. Loomis sponsor the club.

At the bi-monthly meetings, the girls are kept up to date with the newest happenings in the scientific world. Parties, such as the picnic at the lake on October 27 or the bridge party at the Hut in March, are planned.

The college students who made B averages in their sciences will remember the initiation in the biology lab and the party which followed .

The capable president of the club is Laverne Wilson; the vice-president, Betty Moore; the secretary, Catherine Helms; and the treasurer, Jean Burney.

The Science Club is composed of Suzanne Allen, Bess Altgelt, Jerre Baucum, Martha Beck, Jeanne Boe, Sunny Mae Bondurant, Peggy Bryson, Mary Louise Buck, Mary Ann Buracker, Jean Burney, Jean Scott Burt, Ida Jo Call.

The Sullins Players

The Sullins Players is made up not only of girls taking speech courses but also of those interested in any phase of dramatics—writing scripts, directing, and acting.

Martha DePass has led the group as president, Mary Lou Martell has assisted her as vice-president, Patricia Breech has taken the minutes, and Marge Buntin has collected the dues.

Miss Edith Humphrey has been teacher of the dramatics class and sponsor of the club. The meetings are held on Wednesday night of each week in the dramatics classroom.

In the fall, "Graveyard Day," a humorous story of mountaineers of western North Carolina, was presented. "Christmas Incorporated," which showed an unusual side of the Christmas spirit, came the last of November.

In that same month, the first three-act play, "Brief Music," was given. In March another one-act play added a very enjoyable deviation in our early morning Chapel programs.

The State Clubs

"Old Black Joe" at the Tennessee Club hillbilly party.

On November 3, the Tennessee Club had a real old-fashioned hill billy party. Catherine Helms called the square dances, five Juniors rendered the comical "Ballet a la Pue," and "Old black Joe," one of our janitors, who is 98 years old, sang, recited poetry, and played the piano.

The Tennessee Club officers are Catherine Helms, president; Sunny Bondurant, vice-president; Peggy Bryson, secretary; Jane Fagg, treasurer. Their sponsor is Mrs. G. L. Robinson.

The Midwestern Club's Carnival on November 10 was a huge success. Everyone took chances on the cake that could be won only by guessing the number of beans in a jar. The bingo, fishing,

During the 1945-46 term of Sullins, there were girls from thirty-three states and two foreign countries. From Cuba came Gloria Lingoya and Jean Edwards, and from the Dominican Republic, Sena Catalina Henriquez.

This year the Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, and Midwestern clubs were most active. In September the Alabama and Florida clubs joined to give a reception for the officers of the other state clubs. This informal affair was held at the Hut after Vespers on a Sunday night.

The officers of the Alabama Club are Winifred Manderson, president; Catherine Tonsmeire, vice-president; Marcia Gray, secretary; La Voe Johns, treasurer. Their sponsor is Miss Elizabeth Greene.

Lillian McLeod is president of the Florida Club; Betty Chaires, vice-president; Betty Allen, secretary; and Martha DePass, treasurer.

darts, and fortune telling were also popular. Each of these cost pennies. The proceeds were used to buy Easter baskets for underprivileged children.

Of this group, Mary Swan is president; Marilyn Curdes, vice-president; Patricia Frazier, secretary-treasurer; and Miss Winnetta Thomas, sponsor.

These and the other clubs have enjoyed going to movies and to dinner, skating, and bowling together. Informal get-togethers furnish many happy memories and bring girls from the same state closer together.

In years to come we may not be able to see our friends who live far away, but we shall be able to keep up our contacts with the friends made in these clubs.

Other state clubs and their officers are:

The Georgia Club—Susan Cooper, president; Jean Burney, vice-president; Shirley Watkins, secretary; Sara Kay, treasurer.

The Kentucky Club—Marjorie Akers, president; Carol Swope, vice-president; Jeanne Posey, secretary-treasurer; Miss Peggy White, sponsor.

The Mississippi-Louisiana Club—Phyllis Pierce, president; Jane Dalrymple, vice-president; Mary Linville Armistead, secretary; Hope Joffrion, treasurer; Mrs. Maud W. Boggess, sponsor.

The officers pose under the arch.

Mildred Brown has been the capable president and Martha Thomas her assistant as vice-president. For the first semester, Ruth Richards served as secretary, and for the second semester, Mary Williams. Barbara Simpson has been a most efficient treasurer. Miss Harriett Whetsell, sponsor, has added much to the activities of the club.

The day students from Bristol and surrounding towns make up the Villagers' Club. Their room, in the lower hall of the main building, is usually filled with girls who, while waiting for their next class, tell the latest gossip or do last-minute cramming.

There wasn't a boarding student or faculty member who didn't thoroughly enjoy the beautiful tea given by this group on November 17. It was held at the home of Martha Boswell in Lee Heights. After being greeted by Martha Jean, her mother, and her little sister, the guests entered the drawing room where Mrs. Martin, Miss Whetsell, the club sponsor, and the officers formed a receiving line. Later they repaired to the dining room, where the members of the club served punch and cakes.

The Villagers' Dance on February 2 will be remembered as one of the most enjoyable of the year. The decoration committee used the Valentine theme, transforming the gym into a sea of red and white crepe paper.

Colored lights played on the girls in evening dresses, the boys in uniform, and those just out of the service wearing their new "civvies."

The Villagers eat lunch at the Hut and hold their weekly meetings there on Wednesdays. They buy something to eat and lounge in the comfortable leather chairs. Business is brought up and discussed, and gossip is exchanged.

In all student activities we find Villagers participating. Many have won honors in the horse shows and in other sports. The girls attend the meetings of other clubs and classes.

The members of the Villagers' Club are Martha Jean Boswell, Mildred Brown, Dorothy Bullock, Doris Denton, Billie Eblen, Barbara Galliher, Anita Gemmell, Daphne Gibson, Jean Gobble, Mary Ann Godsey, Lillian Hendricks, Ada Louise Horseley.

The Hoofprints Club

Once again the Hoofprints Club has had a most successful year. Members of the club have won many honors in horse shows and have had great fun on breakfast and supper rides and picnics at Steele's Creek.

The sponsors, Miss Peggy White and Miss Jennie Lou Crockett, have put much stress on show riding this year. A large number of girls have enrolled in these classes.

When Dr. Martin announced it was "a beautiful day for riding" that Sunday in September when we first came, we could not realize that all the "beautiful Sundays" would have an invigorating ride in the afternoon to make them perfect.

The Sunday rides were enjoyed by all riding students. Misses Crockett and White and usually Dr. Martin have taken the girls over the campus and out into the surrounding country.

Dr. Martin's birthday is celebrated at the tea in the clubhouse.

On Saturday and Sunday nights, members of the club and other students often spend the night at the club house. Everyone enjoys talking long into the night and finally going to sleep on a pallet in front of the dying embers in the fireplace.

On February 10, the Hoofprints tea and Dr. Martin's birthday party took place in the club house. The officers—Ruby Harris, president; Jane Fisher, vice-president; Bess Altgelt, secretary; Nancy Sterner, treasurer; and Joan Butler, publicity chairman—took turns receiving and serving. Betty Noland and Catherine Helms assisted Ruby Harris as she presented Dr. Martin's birthday cake.

The annual banquet was held in April at the General Shelby Hotel. The members of the club arrived in full riding attire. At this time, each old officer turned her position over to the new officers, as Ruby handed her gavel to the new president.

So that the beginners would gain experience, a special horse show was held for them in the spring. The main horse show, which is annually held in May, featured the intermediate and advanced riders. This show was planned and under the direction of the Senior Equitation class with the help of Misses White and Crockett.

The Sullins horsewomen participated in the spring Rotary Horse Show held in the lower riding ring on the campus. Betty Noland and Margaret Lovell took first place in the pair class and Barbara Bartholdi won first in the Sullins-Virginia Intermont Class. Many other Hoofprinters won top honors. Several of the horses from our stable won ribbons also. These have been added to the many trophies and ribbons on display in the clubhouse.

Each year the beginner showing the most advancement is awarded a loving cup. The George M. Pope trophy is awarded to the best of the advanced riders.

Hoofprints members are Mona Abbott, Bess Altgelt, Betty Anderson, Mary Jane Angel, Daisy Bailey, Barbara Bartholdi, Jeanne Barkley, Jean Bartholomew, Mary Lee Bartlett, Jerre Baucum, Martha Beck, Peggy Bellman, Jean Bisplinghoff, Jeanne Boe.

OH, MY ACHING BACK!

The Athletic Association

Miss Liles

The Sullins Athletic Association plays an important role in the life of almost every Sullins girl. Although the organization has been active for only three years, it is one of the most popular ones on the campus. Under its efficient sponsors, Miss Stowe and Miss Liles, the association carries on various interesting activities throughout the year.

This organization is composed of officers, board members, sponsors, and active members. Each sport is well represented, for the board is made up of nine girls who organize the tournaments and promote interest in athletics.

The officers of the Association are Harryette Campbell, president; Nancy Srygley, vice-president; Henrietta Swain, treasurer; Beth Davis, secretary; and Mae Lilly, social chairman.

Members of the board are Nancy O'Brien, who is chairman of tennis and table tennis; Jean Burney, soccer; Ibis Tull, hockey; Louise Tull, badminton; Martha Beasley, basketball; Phyllis Pierce, swimming; Marge Buntin, softball; Ruby Harris, riding; and Evelyn Culwell, dancing.

Each year before the tournaments begin, there is a bonfire down on the hockey field which is enthusiastically attended by all of the students. Every girl comes down to cheer for her team. Around the huge fire, the cheerleaders, chosen by their respective classes, led the enthusiasts in their class cheers. The Senior cheerleaders are Sonny Mae Bondurant, Marilyn Reiber, Mary Swan, and Jane Fagg. The Junior cheerleaders are Beulah Wood, Marge Buntin, Miriam Isenhour, and Helen Civil. The Academy cheerleaders are Emmy Lou Patrick, Peggy Constantine, Edna Jo Woodward, and Peggy Francisco. By each girl cheering for her team, enthusiasm is at a high pitch at the onset of the tournaments.

The Association has made plans to sponsor a movie later on in the spring. The movie will be held in the chapel and refreshments will be served after the show. Other such plans are being made for a hayride or a picnic in the late spring, also.

The many tournaments held during the year are sponsored by the Athletic Association.

The weather interfered with the tournaments this year; however, those that were played were well attended and in after school practices each class was represented.

The number of girls participating in the games was fifty-two Academy students, fifty-five Juniors, and sixty-nine Seniors.

The number of students in each class participating in a few of the sports is the following: Basketball —Academy 19, Juniors 23, Seniors 20; Badminton—Academy 18, Juniors 20, Seniors 8; Soccer—Academy 4, Juniors 10, Seniors 14; Hockey—Academy 4, Juniors 14, Seniors 13; Tennis—Academy 7, Juniors 8, Seniors 14.

Twenty-five points are required for active membership in the Association, one hundred points for a shield, and two hundred points for a letter.

Each girl in the Association is trying hard to obtain the required number of points to gain a shield or a letter. Girls obtain points by participating in Mardi Gras, May Day, hockey and soccer tournaments, swimming meet, tennis tournament, badminton tournament, table tennis tournament, hikes, Sunday rides, and the basketball tournament.

This year the Athletic Association banquet, as usual, was a great sucess. The main table was elaborately decorated with flowers, and interesting name cards were placed at each seat.

Harryette Campbell, the president, opened the banquet with a welcoming address, which included an account of the year's activities.

Miss Stowe

Jeanne Boe, the new president, and Peggy Estes, the new vice-president, took the oath of office.

Vice-president Nancy Srygley awarded Sullins shields to Jean Bartholomew, Jean Burt, Joan Butler, Helen Civil, Harriett Crutchfield, Evelyn Culwell, Martha DePass, Joy Dobry, Alma Florez, Peggy Frost, Barbara Greene, Marcia Gray.

Nancy O'Brien Mary Kinney, Ruby Harris, Catharine Helms, Sara Kay, Mae Lilly, Winifred Manderson, Phyllis Pierce, Marilyn Reiber, Sally Scribner, Barbara Shunk, Elinor Steinhagen, Mary Swan, Jo Ann Walker, and Martha Ware.

Sullins letters were awarded to Martha Beasley, Jean Burney, Harryette Campbell, Shirley Edmondson, Sydney Hales, Betsy Hewes, Betty Noland, Carol Orr, Nancy Schmoele, Nancy Srygley, Elizabeth Tull, and Louise Tull.

CENTER: Marge, Lou, and Jean try to hit the bull's-eye.

In the early spring, we may see several Sullins girls heading towards the athletic field with bow in hand.

Classes are held the latter half of second semester under the capable instruction of Miss Stowe. Both beginners and advanced students learn by practice to handle the bow with skill and hit the bull's-eye.

If one should hear a shriek of joy coming from the hockey field at any hour of the day, she may be sure that it is a shriek of delight from an archer who has just made a bull's-eye. The thud of the arrow against the target brings a feeling of achievement to both beginners and advanced players.

The attraction of the tennis tables draws crowds daily to the hut. On the porch of the Hut, the advanced students may be seen playing a fast and furious game while Miss Liles or Miss Stowe sees to it that the beginners learn the fundamentals of the game.

Tournaments in both archery and table tennis will be played off in the spring and the champions of Sullins will be determined.

Students who show great interest and marked improvement in table tennis are Alma Florez, Betsy Hewes, Barbara Fly, Delores Lilly, and Louise Tull.

Tennis is a favorite game of relaxation especially during exam week when those three hours of gym are required.

beginner the backhand, the forehand, or the serving stroke. On the adjacent court, we may see advanced students playing a fast and furious game.

A tournament will be played in the spring and girls who will participate are Marcia Gray, Marge Buntin, Peggy Estes, Barbara Fly, Terry Corrodi, Ibis Tull, Nancy McKenna, Henrietta Swain, Betty Poag, Margaret Lovell, Louise Tull, Mary Lou Griffith, Harryette Campbell, Betsy Hewes, Martha Beasley, Pat Petrousa, Mary Swan, Jean Burney, Alma Florez, Ann Elebash, Elaine Huber, Pat Breech, Lila Loveall, Betty Agsten, Joy Dobry, and Nancy O'Brien.

Badminton is not as easy as it may look to a spectator as many of us have found out. Moreover, we have learned that the adage, "Practice Makes Perfect," is true in this game.

A tournament is held during second semester and the outstanding player will be determined. Girls who have entered the tournament are Joan Hendricks, Ruth Helen Applebaum, Betty Johanson, Marilyn Curdes, Ramona Ford, Marcia Gray, Marge Buntin, Rachel Coates, Nancy McKenna, Sidney Hales, Harriet Crutchfield, Betty Poag, Peggy Frost, Bonnie Davis, Lori Hoffman, Jean Burney, Mary Lou Martell, Betty Noland, Jo Walker, Jean Wilson, Alma Florez, Midge Lovell, Marylee Bartlett, Mae Lilly, Susan Cooper, Ibis Tull, Barbara Stewart, Pat O'Connor, Mary Swan, Barbara Greene, Carol Orr, Louise Tull, Nancy Kirkland.

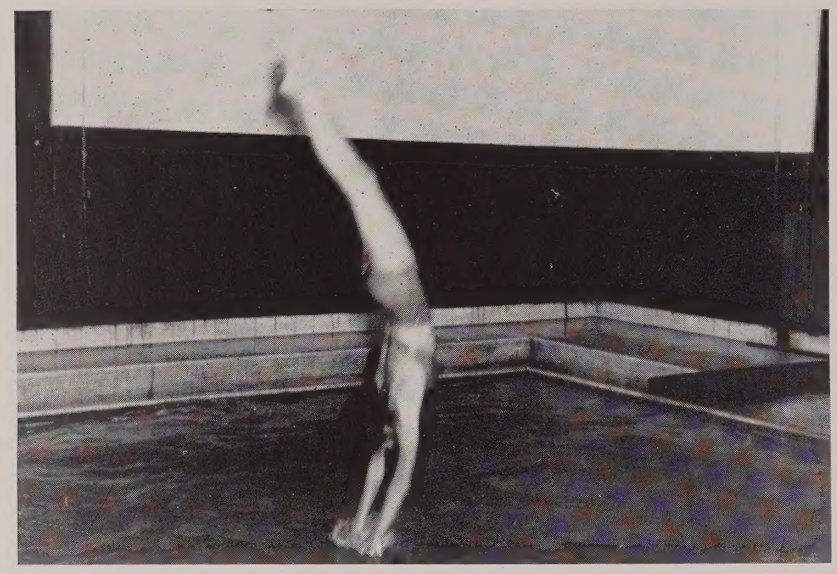
Swimming and Life-Saving



ABOVE: "One, two, three—go!"

The Lake and the Pool are popular places on the campus. Weeks before the swimming meet, we may see contestants practicing the front crawl, side stroke, breast stroke, and back stroke in the pool, where all of the classes are carried on. In the spring, girls going to the lake to swim are carefully guarded by students in the life-saving classes.

Classes are conducted by Miss Liles and Miss Stowe. The groups are organized into beginners, intermediate, and advanced.

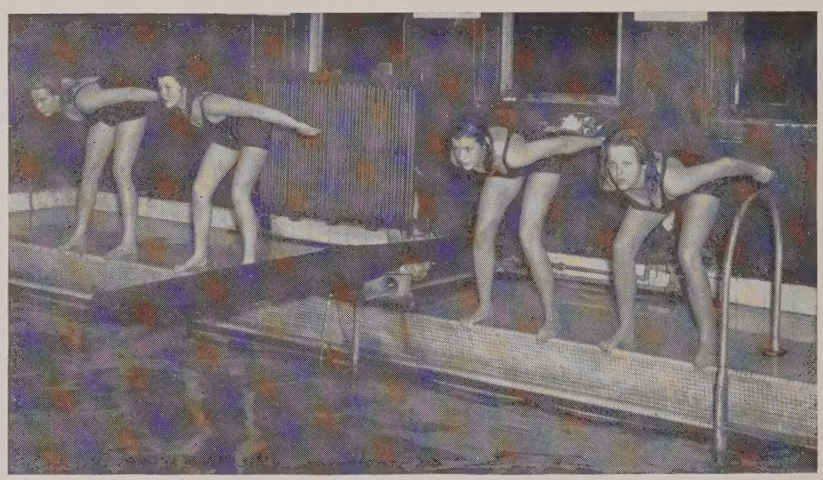
Swimming is essential in the college life of every Sullins girl. Every girl is required either to pass a test including all of the basic strokes, or to participate in swimming classes for one semester.

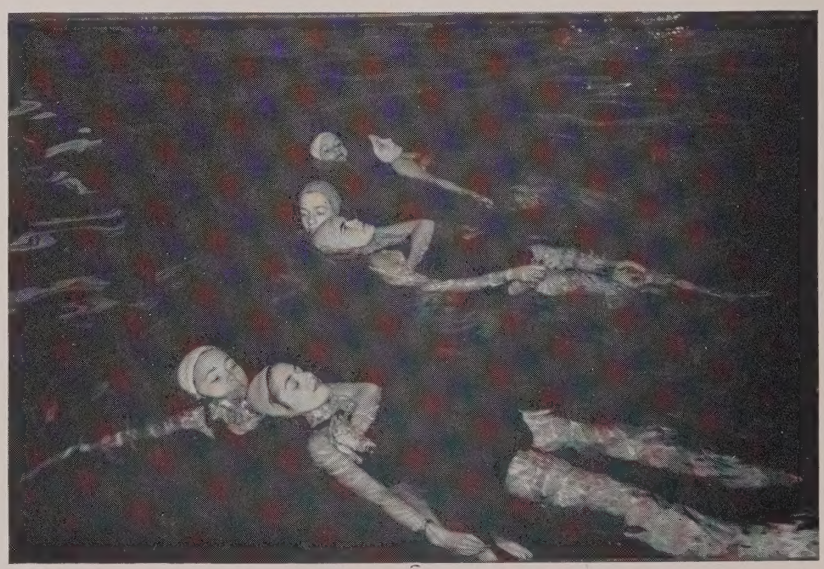
Classes in life-saving are offered second semester twice a week. At the end of the semester, standard Red Cross certificates in life-saving are awarded. In the classes, the girls study waterfront set-ups and standard Red Cross methods for rescuing victims, including approaches, carries, and forms of resuscitation.

Girls entered in the life-saving classes are Ann Adams, Jane Dewar, Peggy Estes, Marcia Gray, Doris Hutchins, Sarah Hasty, Ruth Johnson, Bonnie Kilbourne, Nancy McKenna, Pat O'Connor, Mamie Peacock, Mildred Rice, Shirley Robinson, Judy Sanders, Bobby Shockley, Henrietta Swain, C. J. Swope, Ibis Tull, Louise Tull, and Betty Wiley.

There will be a meet in the spring between the three classes. Places will be awarded to individuals as well as to teams.

BELOW: The life-saving class practices the cross-chest carry.





Hockey and Soccer

In the fall, the hockey field is a favorite spot on the campus. Classes are held twice a week, and, even after school, we may see a team practicing for the tournament in the late fall.

Instead of three teams, there are two, for the Juniors and the Academy organize one team to play the Seniors. To be eligible for the team, students must attend four out of six practices. Intramural tournaments are held with each class playing the other classes twice. However, this year, bad weather prevented our playing the tournament.

Girls who participated in after-school hockey were Margaret Whitehead, Bea Posey, Ibis Tull, Louise Tull, Shirley Robinson, Bonnie Erhard, C. J. Swope, Sylvia Sanville, Peggy Thorp, Marge Buntin, Henrietta Swain, Mamie Peacock, Marcia Gray, Ann Whitehurst, Harriet Crutchfield, Nancy McKenna, Peggy Estes, Shirley Edmondson, Nancy Srygley, Betsy Hewes, Harryette Campbell, Sidney Hales, Elaine Huber, Nancy O'Brien, Martha Depass, Martha Beasley, Lee Allen, Martha Dan Payne, Ruth Jones, Barbara Fly, and Bess Altgelt.

Soccer also plays an important part in our fall sports. Soccer is very similar to Hockey, and a large number of girls participate in after school practices.

Intramural tournaments are organized in soccer, also. To be eligible for the varsity team, students must attend four out of six practices. However, weather interfered with the tournaments this year.

A throw-in.

Basketball

During the second semester, every girl throngs to sign up for the basketball classes, as she knows there will be excitement in store for her.

The tournament in the latter part of the second semester produces by far the most excitement in athletics during the year. Participation in four out of six practices is required to play on the Varsity team. The Varsity team from each class is chosen by the captain, the manager, Miss Stowe, and Miss Liles. Each team plays three games and the winning team is determined from this relay of games.

The captain of the Senior team was Martha Beasley and the managers were Jane Dalrymple and Charlotte Jones.

The girls on the first team were Alma Florez, Betsy Hewes, Martha Beasley, Harryette Campbell, Nancy Srygley, and Shirley Edmondson.

The captain of the Junior team was Betty Noland and the manager Sara Moss. Betty Noland, Mary Kinney, Miriam Isenhour, Mary Ewell, Ibis Tull, and Helen Civil were on the first team.

The Academy team was captained by Nancy Schmoele and managed by Sue Lawrence. Members of the first team were Nancy Schmoele, Lee Allen, Melba Sykes, Marian Garrett, Louise Tull, and Jean Covington.

As the Sampler goes to press, the tournament goes on, and we are anxiously awaiting the results.

Riding

Almost every Sullins girl is well acquainted with the stables. Any day of the week, we may see an enthusiast heading down the back campus to attend one of her classes.

There are about two hundred riders this year. They are divided into three groups: beginner, intermediate, and advanced. At first, all classes are conducted in the ring, but soon the riders prepare to set out for the trails. The Sunday rides are led by Dr. Martin and Miss White.

This year, we are glad to have with us Miss White, our new riding instructor. She is efficiently assisted by Miss Jennie Lou Crockett. Both Miss White and Miss Crockett conduct classes and help to perfect our form in riding.

This year, we have several horse shows on our campus. One of the main events of the year is the horse show sponsored by the Rotary Club. Not only Sullins students are entered in this event, but riders from all parts of the state are participants. Several Sullins riders were awarded first, second, and third places. A horse show is held at the end of the year in which almost all the Sullins riders are entered.

Sullins riders and horses received first places in the Rotary Horse Show. Beth Davis mounted on Mountain Cloud won first place in the Sullins horsemanship class. Barbara Bartholdi on Small Town Girl came in second, Jane Fisher riding Foxy Feudist placed third, and Nancy Sterner on Highland Glee received fourth place. First place in the Local Class went to Small Town Girl ridden by Barbara Bartholdi.

Athlete's Creed

The Sullins athlete's creed is this:

To fight the battle fairly,

To win or lose, but squarely,

To play because she loves the sport,

To be respected on the court,

To do her best in every game,

To help her team-mates on to fame,

To prize her honors as of old,

To love the Maroon and the Gold.

THE ACADEMY

September! Girls from far and near were arriving in Bristol to make "The Hill" their new home. Some faces were new while others were old, yet each girl was excited and anxious to get things underway.

After meeting our roommates, settling down in our rooms and interviewing Dean Metts about our classes, we found things more normal and began to feel at home. "Mouse Night" followed soon after. The old girls exercised their authority and succeeded in bewildering the mice—we hope! The mice were good sports, putting up with the demands made upon them to sing, dance, and exhibit their other talents.

Before we knew it, the time had come for the Academy to organize. Peggy Frost was chosen president; Beth Davis, vice-president; Nancy Schmoele, secretary; Jane McArthur, treasurer; Ann Rogers, social chairman; Carol Orr, Barbara Greene, and Annette Alderman were chosen as Student Concil members. These girls did their best to uphold the tradition of the Academy; and when an occasion arose, they always met it well. With the cooperation of Miss Gregg, our sponsor, and the rest of the Academy students, their tasks were made easier and more enjoyable.

November 9 found us madly cleaning our rooms in preparation for "open house." Our rooms, clean and shiny, were opened for the inspection of the whole school, students and faculty alike.

December was a red-letter month, not only because of the approaching Christmas vacation but also because of the Academy banquet, held on December 3 in the General Shelby Hotel. Naturally, the theme was Yuletide. Behind the speakers' table was a colorful, cardboard Santa Claus. Unusual popcorn sleighs filled with gayly wrapped packages served as centerpieces, and candlelight added dignity to the occasion. The officers welcomed the students and guests: Dr. and Mrs. Martin, Dean and Mrs. Metts, Miss Jane Gregg, Miss Edith S. Blackwell, Miss

In no time at all, the Christmas holidays were over; we were back once more, dreading the thoughts of examinations. After this obstacle was passed, we sailed into second semester with lighter hearts and broader smiles.

The new semester also brought new faces to the Academy wing. Sally Hotchkiss, Joyce Harris, Martha Dalrymple, and Barbara Hobson joined our ranks.

The twenty-eight days in February were crammed full of activity with everyone helping to get the Academy issue of the Reflector to press on time. Carol Orr and Martha Lou Ware were editor and assistant editor respectively. The English class room was a beehive of activity with budding journalists dashing off masterpieces of poetry, spot news, and features. With Miss Loyless' counsel and co-operation, the edition lived up to our expectations.

No Academy year would be complete without the ever-successful spring dance. On March 23 the various committees out-did themselves by giving the school a few wonderful hours of fun and frolic.

May at last! The underclassmen expressed their sentiments by giving the seniors a luncheon at the General Shelby Hotel. Already each girl was sadly realizing that her part in the 1945-1946 year was nearly ended.

For all of us the traditional candle-light service was the last time the Academy would be together as one; graduation, the following day, would make the seniors alumnae.

The class of '46 set the glorious precedent of graduating in flowing white dresses and of carrying graceful sprays of American-beauty roses. This memorable scene was climaxed by Dr. Martin's presentation of the diplomas to the seniors.

The Academy will never forget Miss Gregg, whose inspiration and guidance led us through a perfect year.

The Girls from Sullins C.

(To the tune of the Coast Guard song)

Here come the girls from Sullins C.
High on the hill are we,
And there we stay from September to May,
And then we'll be on our way.

The girls from Sullins C.
Are known where'er they be:
In Bradley's and the Paramount,
In Virginia and Tennessee.

Dr. Martin's our leader dear;
For him we give a cheer.
We love him so, as he doth know;
His smile grows with each year.

—Rita Shapiro, Academy '46

To the tables down at Bradley's,
To the house where Doctor dwells,
To the dear old Y Hut store we love so well,
Where the Sullins girls assemble
With their voices raised on high,
And the magic of their singing casts a spell;
Yes, the magic of their singing,
Of the songs we know so well:
"Alma Mater," "On the Hill," and all the rest;
We will serenade our loved ones,
While life and voice shall last;
Then we'll pass, tho not forgotten, with the rest.
We are gay little lambs who are on our way,
Baa, baa, baa,
But deep in our hearts Sullins memories stay,
Baa, baa, baa,
Sullins girls, songsters, all are we,
Arm in arm thru eternity.
More will come from whence came we,
Baa, baa, baa.
(With apologies to the Yale Whiffenpoofs)

—Beth Davis, Academy '46

THE JUNIORS

All summer, while we had been eagerly getting our clothes together and making happy plans for coming to Sullins in the fall, we wondered a great deal and were just a little scared at what we'd find there our first year of college. Our first glimpse of Sullins from the taxi window was one we'll never forget. The magnificent red brick colonial building overlooking Bristol from its wooded hilltop at once gave us a welcomed feeling.

Henrietta and Mrs. Cavett serve at Junior open house.

Getting settled in our rooms, meeting our roommates and the other friendly girls on our floor, and exploring the downtown section of Bristol absorbed our first few days; then we were ready to begin classes. In no time at all, we were saying "hey" to everyone we met in the halls, eating ravenously of the good food, and feeling completely at home in our new surroundings.

The first Hut party and Lake Day were wonderful events, as was our first dance. Although "girl tag" was a new experience for us, we soon mastered the art and began to enjoy standing in the "doe line" and looking over the crop of Bristol and out-of-town boys. Many of us met boys who later remembered us with Saturday night and Sunday afternoon visits.

Alice Hammond, whom we elected temporary chairman of our class, guided us through those early weeks.

Under the friendly guidance of Miss Guthrie, our class sponsor, we elected the girls who would lead the Juniors. "Stinky" Swain was chosen president; Sara Moss, vice-president; Martha Beck, secretary; and Beulah Wood, treasurer. Student Council members were also carefully selected, as we all thought it a good idea to have our special friends on this important governing board.

Our representatives on the council were Marilyn Curdes, Sue Marie Zike, Mary Lou Buck, and Harriett Crutchfield. In the second semester, Peggy Bryson succeeded Harriet.

October brought the dreaded Rat Week in which the Seniors we thought so friendly became aloof, awe-inspiring creatures to be feared. Our worst fear was of being placed on the Black List, but we were secretly a little disappointed if our name was left off. When it was finally over, we were left with many ideas for making our victims squirm when we should be lucky Seniors next year and the feeling that it had all been fun after all. The Junior-Senior reception helped renew our friendship with the Seniors with whom we once again became pals.

Before we went home for Christmas, there were many happy affairs to be remembered: the Junior-Senior candlelight banquet, our party for the children, and the exchange of gifts on every floor.

Our semester finals over and grade cards sent to our hopeful parents, we started the new semester with a sincere resolve to study more. Sara Moss resigned as vice-president of the Junior class, and Miriam Isenhour was elected to replace her.

Soon, great preparations were being made for our most wonderful annual event—the Mardi Gras. The "Snow Maiden" was a charming ballet pageant, headed by Evelyn Culwell and Jean Boe. Suzanne Allen, a lovely Kentucky belle reigned over the court as queen, and Helen Civil, a stately North Carolina girl, was king.

LEFT TO RIGHT: B. Wood, treasurer; Harrietta Swain, president; M. Gray, social chairman; M. Beck, secretary; and M. Isenhour, vice-president.
The second semester Junior class officers.

The ball on the following night was attended by guests from many states here for the festival season. Dick Jones' orchestra was something special, as were the decorations heralding spring.

"Alice In Wonderland" was read and reported on, and term themes were written; the Martins' birthday banquet was given, and Stan Kenton played for our spring dance. Thus the days flew by, and the important month of May arrived. Ann Elebash was our charming May queen. Every one felt a part of the graduation exercises which were filled with joy and a little sadness. The Daisy Chain carried by the Juniors, and the Junior luncheon ended the year, and we were suddenly bidding our friends goodbye.

Memories of cherished friendships, hikes over the beckoning hills, parties in the Hut and at the Lake, the many impressive banquets, lectures, and concerts we attended, bridge games and long chats in each other's rooms, and, an intangible something in the atmosphere of the school dear to our hearts will beckon us back to Sullins next year. We'll be thinking about her during the summer months, and then we'll be seeing her again to renew acquaintances and begin a wonderful new year of fun, work, and memories.

LET'S DREAM WHILE WE MAY

THE SENIORS

P. Breech, secretary; A. Elebash, vice-president; M. Wines, president; M. Spain, treasurer; and J. Herring, social chairman.
The Senior class officers on the front lawn.

And so it's ended! Graduation is at last here—that long awaited day that we've wanted and yet not wanted. We've prayed for it and worked for it, and now that it's here, how we wish we had two more such years before us. And won't we feel proud as we tremulously receive our diplomas, or maybe certificates, from our awe inspiring president, Dr. Martin?

No matter where we may be next year, it won't be the same for we will be longing for our youthful Sullins days. Remember how we felt last year when the Seniors marched up the aisle—so proud of them, envying them, yet feeling sorry for their having to leave. It's difficult to realize that it's we who are graduating now. We have proudly taken up where they left off.

But that was long after we first came here. Remember in September, 1944, when we gazed upon Sullins for the first time? We were homesick, maybe afraid, and the idea of school didn't quite appeal to us but it didn't take long to get in the swing of Sullins life. We soon felt a part of Sullins and joined in all the activities on the campus.

We became acquainted with our roommates, and with the faculty at Mrs. Martin's lovely tea. Then the Junior-Senior banquet was a big affair for us. And getting used to girl-break dances seemed quite an accomplishment to us, but after two or three dances we thought them the best of all.

Preparing a Saturday night feast in Senior kitchen.

Rat Week came and quickly went and how disappointed we were that it didn't last longer for we enjoyed it as much, or more, than the Seniors. It was a long hard pull and then Christmas vacation! We were a little surprised that we were really glad to get back in January, joining our friends again, eating peanut butter and crackers, playing bridge, and having Mardi Gras to look forward to.

We thought those five months until May would never pass; but since we always had something to do, those months seemed no more than five weeks.

Remember what a dignified and lovely pair Polly Wells and Patti Henslee made as our Queen and King. And right after came the Jo, Peg, and Cathy after a night spent at the Hoofprints club house.

Mardi Gras dance, one of the gayest of the year. Tests came and went and the days sped by.

All of a sudden May was here and the Seniors were cramming for exams and excited over May Day. The daisy chain, May Day festival, the exams, graduation—it all came off perfectly, with tearyeyed Seniors and Juniors abundant. That was the time we decided we would certainly be back. We knew we couldn't do without Sullins.

And what an unforgettable year 1945-46 has been. Peace came and things were getting back to normal and on September 12, we treaded our way back up the front steps of Sullins C.

As the days flew by, we came to realize that our last Christmas at Sullins was here. Again we experienced the pleasure of playing Santa Claus to some of the little girls and boys of Bristol. We shall never forget the scared but radiant faces of those children when they came into the chapel.

This year, we had a little prouder lift of our heads—we knew that we had a responsibility being Seniors. We were soon organized under the capable leadership of our officers: Mildred Wines, president, Ann Elebash, vice-president Margaret Spain, treasurer, and Pat Breech, secretary.

And weren't we happy to find Mrs. Rob as our hostess and Miss Milbrandt as our sponsor? We made the most of each moment of our Senior year—serenades on the ramp, sleepless nights at the Hoofprints Club, the Sampler dance, the Junior-Senior banquet, and so many other unforgettable occasions, occasions that bound us more firmly into a perfect class.

Yes, we were a class, one and indivisible, and we stuck together as one all the year through. The studies were difficult, the journey was long, but the friendships were strong, our respect for Dr. and Mrs. Martin's guiding influence was unfailing and we emerge, we hope, better girls, better women.

Sullins has meant a great deal to us. It has been one of the bases upon which our characters have been built and from which knowledge has been derived. We are proud as graduates of this college, but we must say "so long" for a while. Take good care of Sullins, Juniors, we're leaving it all to you!

Mildred Louise Wines

Charleston, West Virginia General Diploma

"Will the meeting please come to order?" says Millie at our weekly class meeting. She has been president of the Senior class during her last year at Sullins. Her ability to meet people and make friends comes from her abundant vitality and understanding nature. And she always takes the second helping of ice cream, because she is definitely against diets.

While a Junior, Millie was a member of the West Virginia Club and the Science Club. In the latter part of her Junior year, she was elected treasurer of the Junior class. Also she was a gentleman in the Mardi Gras Court. In her Senior year she has belonged to the Home Economics Club, the Science Club, and her state club.

Just take a look at the art gallery in Millie's room. It is proof enough of her popularity with the opposite sex also. Efficient Millie will be sure to have success in future years.

Betty Corinne Agsten

Charleston, West Virginia Diploma in Piano

"Bee" has her finger in the middle of all Sullins activities and has set a good example of the ideal Senior. A piano major, she has entertained us all often at the Hut parties and has played frequently for town organizations. Although she is as busy as a beaver each day, she always has time for a chat session or a game of bridge.

Last year Bee was social chairman of the Junior class and secretary of the West Virginia Club. In the Mardi Gras pageant she was a gentleman of the court; she also participated in many one-act plays and in the symphony concert.

During both years she has been a member of the Sullins Glee Club; this year she joined the Choir. She is also a member of the West Virginia Club, one of our most interesting personalities, and, most important of all, president of the Student Council.

Mary Kathryn Smith

Charleston, West Virginia Secretarial Diploma

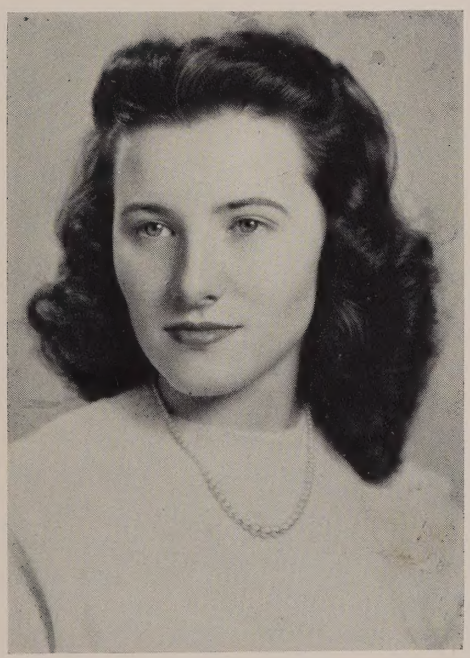
"I'll Always Be With You"—If Mary K. has her way, that is the way it'll be with the Navy. Although the Navy is her male interest, she has many other pet likes, such as steaks and French fries, music, dancing, and a game of bridge, her favorite pastime.

Red-headed Mary K. dislikes people who can wear fuchsia. Wouldn't we all give up our fuchsia belongings to have beautiful hair like hers?

Sports play an important role in her daily activities. If she is not busy with her studies or practice in the Glee Club, she is either on the tennis court engrossed in a game or in the pool for an enjoyable swim. Active both in and out of class, Mary K. has belonged to the West Virginia Club, being president in her Senior year, the Sullins Players, and the Glee Club. She was another lady of the Mardi Gras Court.



Lila Lee Loveall

Charleston, West Virginia Art Diploma

This cute five-foot girl invariably tracks down the six-foot men at the school dances, but who wouldn't enjoy the friendliness of this petite Sullinsite from third floor Senior? Her neatness in dress and originality in hair styling mark her as one of the best-dressed girls at Sullins.

Just mention a game of bridge, and Lila is right there for a good hand or two to play. Bridge, however, is only one of her many interests. Dancing, music, and interior decorating are a few of her favorite pastimes.

She has been a member of the Student Council and the Sullins Players during her Senior year, and a member of the West Virginia Club and the Paint and Palette Club during both years. In her Junior year, she took part in the Mardi Gras pageant as a page of the king's court.

Marjorie Akers

Glasgow, Kentucky General Diploma

Add beauty and intelligence together and your sum equals Marjorie. Her easy-to-know and easy-to-like manner of meeting people has made her a favorite of all. And those hard-to-get and hard-to-hold A's are hers.

Marjorie loves to read poetry and as a hobby collects unusual poems of interest. "Let's play bridge" usually begins a hand or two after lunch and continues in an all-day session. When she is not at the movies or busily talking, we can often find her diligently working a crossword puzzle, a favorite pastime.

During both years she has been an active Sullinsite. As a Junior she was a member of the Reflector Staff, the Glee Club, the Science Club, and the Kentucky Club, which she served as the able secretary-treasurer. In her Senior year, she has been president of her state club, a member of the Glee Club, and editor-in-chief of the Sampler.

Betty Lindsey

Shreveport, Louisiana Art Diploma

A good student and a real friend is Betty. Her knack of holding those hard-to-get, hard-to-keep A's is something we all marvel at. Usually Betty is kept busy at her studies, but frequently she takes a holiday for a game of bridge or for some of her favorite sports, such as badminton and swimming.

On Monday she enjoys sleeping late and then spending her afternoons in town at a movie. An admirable characteristic of hers is dependability. We can be sure that serious, friendly Betty will be a success wherever she goes.

Betty has spent a great deal of her spare time as a member of the Paint and Palette Club and the Glee Club during both years, as a member of the Mississippi-Louisiana Club during her Junior year, and as our college life editor of the Sampler in her Senior year.

Catharine Helms

Corryton, Tennessee General Certificate

Bubbling with vitality—that's Cathy. She seems to be every place at all times and is always where she is needed most. A willing helper with a pleasing personality, she is a true friend to everyone.

Active and versatile, she has been a member of many organizations at Sullins, such as the Athletic Association, the Hoofprints Club, the Science Club, and the Tennessee Club. She has been treasurer of the Science Club and president of the Tennessee Club; in last year's Mardi Gras pageant, she was a member of the Chinese group.

Cathy is an all-round good sport. She particularly likes basketball and riding on those "sunny" Sundays. Among all sports, hiking is her favorite. She adores the Virginia mountains and often is seen climbing them.

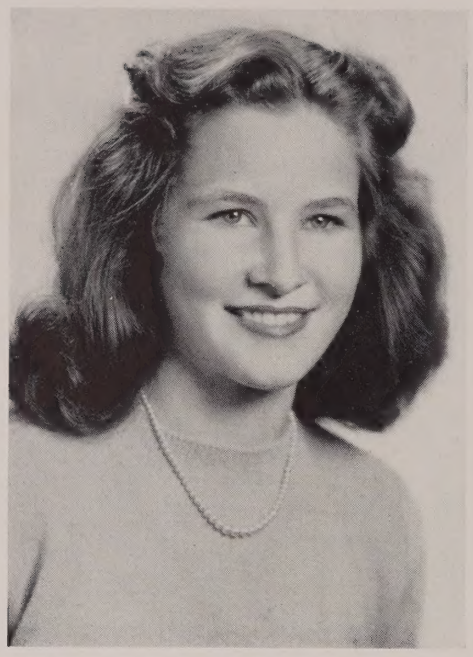
June M. Scheirer

Allentown, Pennsylvania

If June could have her way, she would install an elevator to reach third floor Senior, instead of puffing up so many steps. Although she is majoring in the secretarial course, she plans to attend college after graduation and attain a degree in music. When she is not spending a few free hours at the Hut, June is either playing the piano in her practice room or working hard at the switchboard.

In her Junior year she was a member of the Hoofprints Club. During her Senior year she has been a member of the Radio Workshop; and in both years, she has been a member of the Pennsylvania Club.

June enjoys keeping busy and making friends. To pass her leisure hours away, she is usually doing one of three things: knitting, sewing, or reading. Even though she lives north of the Mason-Dixon line, she is fascinated by the Southern drawl.



Martha Thomas

Bristol, Tennessee General Diploma

"My cow" is Martha's byword whenever there is no answer to a situation. That winsome smile is always welcome when she comes breezing into the day students' room. Though completely out of breath from climbing the steps in the mornings, she can always manage to say "Hi."

Her pet likes are date pudding, movies, and basketball games. Among the dislikes, which are few and far between, we find those dreadful make-up Mondays and rainy days. Martha's pastimes are "taking it easy" and those sessions with girl friends.

We're all proud of Martha and will long remember those blue eyes sparkling and her special way of saying "golly-e-e." She was a member of the Villagers' Club in her Junior year. This year she is day student editor of the Sampler and vice-president of the Villagers' Club.

Mildred Aileen Brown

Bristol, Tennessee General Certificate

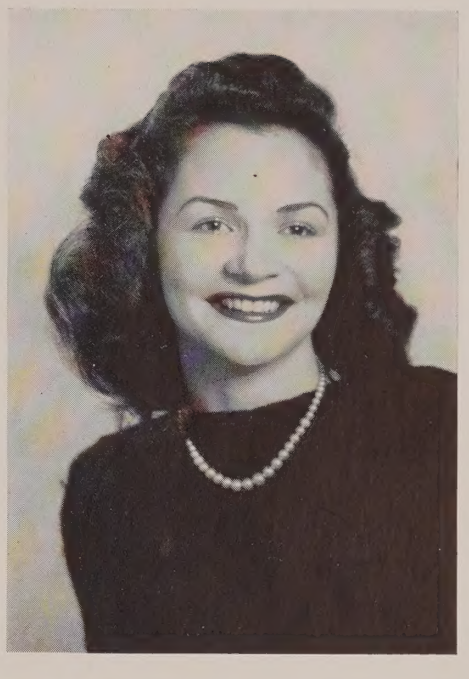
If in passing through the day students' room you should see a tall, graceful girl resembling a model or movie star, you would know that this is Mildred. She is outstanding not only for her good looks but also for her pleasing personality and graceful charm.

Mildred is very friendly and is a favorite of the boarding girls as well as of the day students. Her favorite pastime is going out of town for the week-end—usually getting back for Tuesday morning classes. Mildred's pet likes are letters and convertibles; and seeing her wide circle of male admirers we have no fear that she will ever lack either. Among her pet dislikes we find gossip and early rising.

During her Junior year Mildred was a member of the Villagers' Club and the Mardi Gras Court. In her Senior year as president of the Villagers' Club she has been a successful leader and inspiration for the other members.

Barbara Simpson

Bristol, Virginia



You may look the whole school over, but nowhere will you find a more petite beauty than Barbara. She is studying art and is in herself a work of art with her glamorous black hair, graceful figure, attractive clothes and very pleasing personality. She can usually be found in the Art Department or writing those numerous letters to V. P. I.

Barbara has been a member of the Paint and Palette Club and the Villagers' Club during her Junior year and also her Senior year. The Villagers' Club made her treasurer in her Senior year.

Among her pet likes we find shrimp, Buicks, antiques, and V. P. I. Barbara dislikes the color orange, cabbage, and stringy hair (we are sure she has never been guilty of the last-named). She is especially interested in costume designing. Judging by her illustrations and her clothes, we feel sure that she will go far in that field.

Irene B. Preston

Bristol, Virginia Diploma in Domestic Science

Irene is likely to be seen heading either for the stables in her jodhpurs or for the foods laboratory in her smock, for she is a Home Economics major and a very able horsewoman. She is notable for her friendly air and ready wit and is always ready for a trip to the Hut.

Irene, who came to us from Marion Junior College, has been a very welcome addition. She has held membership in the Villagers' Club and the Hoofprints Club.

Irene's favorite sports are horseback riding, tennis, swimming, and basketball, and we are sure she is a very capable participant in any of them. That she is a very active person may account for her special dislike of slow drivers. She likes Tommy Dorsey's band, walking in the rain, and keeping late hours. Irene's favorite pastimes are cooking and wondering if the concoction will be edible.

Janice J. Catt

Alton, Illinois Certificate in Speech

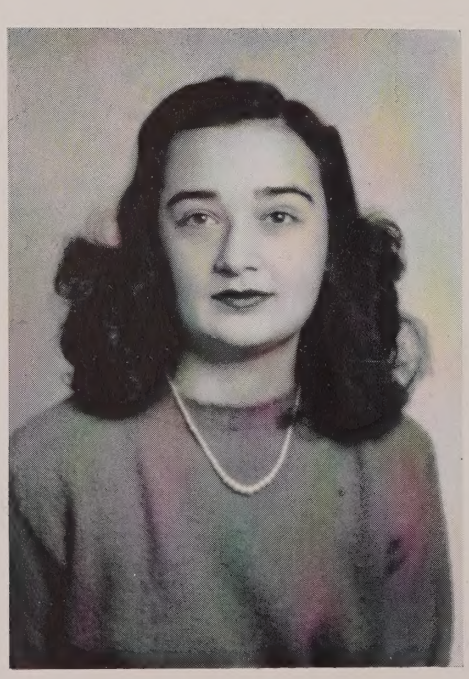
Where there is a good time, there you will find Jan, for she is always ready and willing to do her part to make the party lively. We all know that she hails from the North because of her love for the cool and invigorating air.

Janice has many likes that range from fat cocker spaniels to modern composers and poetry. Although she is from Illinois, Janice has a great interest in the New England states. Within her own state, Chicago takes the lead as her favorite "big city."

That her interests are many and varied has been shown during her two years at Sullins. She is a member of the Radio Workshop, the Athletic Association, and the Hoofprints Club. Even though most things in the world today are uncertain, we know that Janice will succeed in any line of work she undertakes.



Athena C. Petroutsa

Jacksonville, Florida General Certificate

"Dark Eyes" Pat is just bubbling with personality. Her infectious laugh and keen sense of humor make her an ideal companion. When she is with the Army, she is in utter bliss dancing to the song, "Dancing in the Dark."

Dancing, however, is only one of her many interests. She takes part in dramatics, being a member of the Sullins Players. She also belongs to the Hoofprints Club, the Radio Workshop, the Glee Club, and the Florida Club.

Versatile and gay Pat enjoys her sports, particularly swimming; at every available opportunity we find her in the school pool. Together with swimming, she has a liking for tennis and riding.

Mention lemon pie a la mode to Pat and you will become aware of her enchanting smile and of her love for the sweet things of life. We cannot forget lovable and generous Pat.

Shirley Ann Jennings

Masury, Ohio Certificate in Domestic Art

Shirley has entered into many of the activities at Sullins. Being a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Home Economics Club, the Paint and Palette Club, and the Ohio Club, of which she is social chairman, has occupied most of her spare time. Nevertheless, she always finds time for those visits and snacks between meals.

"Did I get any mail?" is Shirley's first question when she reaches her room after classes. Hardly a day goes by that she doesn't receive a letter from that certain someone in the Army.

Being from the North, Shirley likes the out-door sports, particularly ice skating. However, photography and interior decorating are her main interests. Her knack for arranging her bangs has presented a baffling problem to many of us. Neat in appearance, friendly, and congenial, Shirley is a true friend of everyone.

Martha A. Beasley

Carrollton, Alabama Diploma in Physical Education

Good sportsmanship, an even temper, a pleasing and friendly personality—that's Martha. Congenial, easy going, considerate, she is an unforgettable individual.

Sleeping, listening to the radio, and walking or riding in the rain are her favorite pastimes. Candy, particularly chocolate, is her weakness; cheeseburgers with French fries are runners-up in her choice of favorite food. There is one thing, however, that displeases her—chewing gum, especially when someone pops it.

A lover of all types of sports, she has taken an active part in athletic events at Sullins. In both years she has been a member of the Athletic Association and the Alabama Club. During her Senior year she has acted as chairman of the basketball team and played in many of the games as forward on the team.

Anne Baysinger

Salisbury, Maryland General Diploma

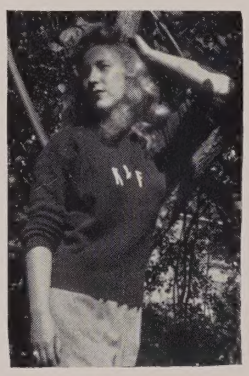
"Oh! Pshaw!" usually rings from the big suite on first floor Senior when the male situation presents a baffling problem for Anne to solve. But the solution proves satisfactory. Can we blame the boys for wanting a date with this sweet, well liked Maryland beauty? Her frequent telephone calls and as frequent week-end dates prove her popularity among boys as well as among her numerous girl friends.

As a Junior Anne was selected as one of the best dressed students at Sullins. That same year she also participated in the Mardi Gras pageant as a gentleman of the Court.

A piano enthusiast, she has played in the symphony concerts and also in the ensemble recitals as well as in our student recitals. In her Senior year she was elected president of the Delaware-Maryland Club. With her personality and talent, Anne is sure to be a success.



Katherine Jane Fisher

York, Pennsylvania General Certificate

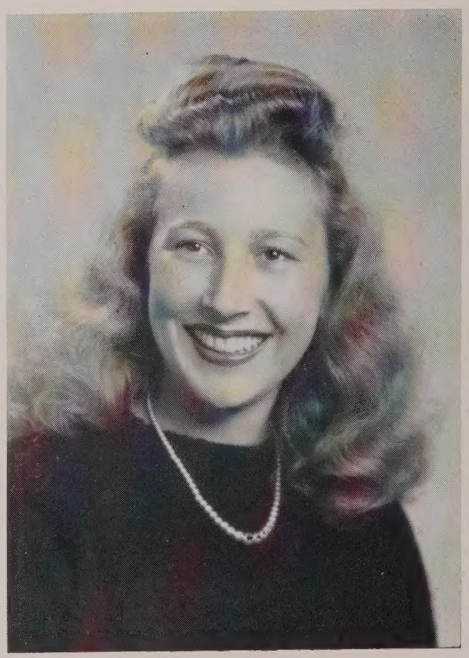
Anybody who has a stable or a piano is Jane's friend, because her main interests lie in horses and music. She has proved her ability in both these lines by appearing in an ensemble recital, in the symphony, and in the college and Rotary horse shows. When Jane is not practicing for a show or her music lesson, she is either eating or knitting.

During both years at Sullins she has been a member of the Hoofprints Club, of which she is vice-president this year. She is also a member of the Pennsylvania Club. In her Senior year, she is president of her state club and a member of the Radio Workshop.

When "Isn't that a panic?" rings from the big suite on first floor Senior, it's usually Jane commenting on some past experience, which she relates at such a fast rate that we sometimes wonder if we heard it all correctly.



Winifred Webb Manderson

Mobile, Alabama General Diploma

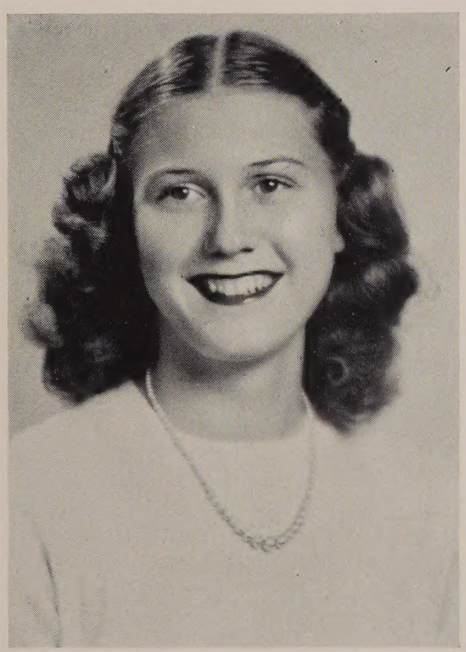
" 'I Fall in Love Too Easily,' but it's fun," says Wyn after that big week-end at home. It's no wonder she is everybody's favorite with her brown hair and her green eyes that always seem to be twinkling with merriment. We can always count on Wyn and her happy-go-lucky manner to keep us cheerful, even during our dreaded exam week.

If you saw Mardi Gras last year, you probably remember that tall brownette gentleman of the court; and if you looked closely enough, you realized it was Wyn. When she was a Junior, she was a member of the Science Club and the Alabama Club. In her Senior year she is president of her state club and feature editor of the Sampler.

"Hurry, Tex, we'll miss the bus," is usually the beginning of an afternoon in town—one of Wyn's favorite pastimes. With so much vitality, she will find life an exciting adventure.



Elinor A. Steinhagen

Beaumont, Texas General Certificate

"How Little We Know," replies "Tex" during one of her lengthy talks about Texas. A true Texan, Elinor loves horses and maintains a great hope for a ranch of her own. But her state is not her only interest; she loves to hear Tommy Dorsey and a lengthy discussion of West Point.

During her Junior and Senior years she has been a member of the Athletic Association and the Texas Club. While a Junior, "Tex" belonged to the Hoofprints Club. In her Senior year she is a member of the Radio Workshop and also president of her state club.

When a fourth is needed for bridge, we can always depend on "Tex" to be ready and willing to play. If she is not busily concentrating on a bridge game or Russian bank, she is using her abundant energy in a game of tennis or basketball or in swimming. She likes nothing better than to spend her time at sports.

Lillian McLeod

Orlando, Florida Secretarial Diploma

"The best things come in the smallest packages." This saying may well apply to our little Senior, Lillian, better known to her friends as "Pill." How such a small person can eat so much, especially that strawberry shortcake, and still keep her Scarlet O'Hara waistline is a puzzle to us all. Her naturally curly dark hair and friendly smile are welcome in every room.

Last year she was a member of the Radio Workshop. In both her years she has been a member of the Commercial Club, of which she is secretary this year, and the Florida Club, of which she is president.

Say "Frog" and Pill jumps! When you say something concerning the Navy, you can always depend on Pill's frequent remark, "I just love it." Another love of hers is an hour spent playing Russian bank, a favorite pastime. She just loves it, and we just love her.

Sara Louise Kay

Byron, Georgia Secretarial Certificate

Meet Kay! That tall, stately, dark-haired girl we see often with that beaming smile is a friend to all. Her streamlined figure and perfection in the choice of her clothes is the envy of every Senior. With these assets to her credit, her ambition, modeling, will surely be fulfilled.

Dancing, eating, and a discussion of Harvard med-students occupies most of Kay's spare time. Her infectious giggle keeps us constantly in a good humor.

As a Junior she held the offices of treasurer in her state club, the Georgia Club, and secretary of the Commercial Club. She also was a member of the War Activities Committee. Her brunette beauty made her a stately gentleman in the Mardi Gras Court. In her Senior year she was re-elected to the office of treasurer in her state club and remained a member of the Commercial Club.

Ruby Elizabeth Harris

Warrenton, North Carolina Certificate in Stenography

All must be silent when Ruby hears "Till the End of Time." Ruby enjoys clothes, and more clothes, which she expertly models around the suite, and she also loves to dance.

Ruby is another one of Sullins' horse lovers. Last year she was an ardent member of the Hoofprints Club, and this year she is president of that organization. In the Athletic Association of this year, she is chairman of riding.

Together with her interest in riding, Ruby has taken an active part in her state club, having been secretary-treasurer in her Junior year. She participated in Mardi Gras as a gentleman of the court and was treasurer of the Junior class in the first semester. This year she is taking an active part in the Radio Workshop.

Barbara Slater

Clarksburg, West Virginia Secretarial Diploma

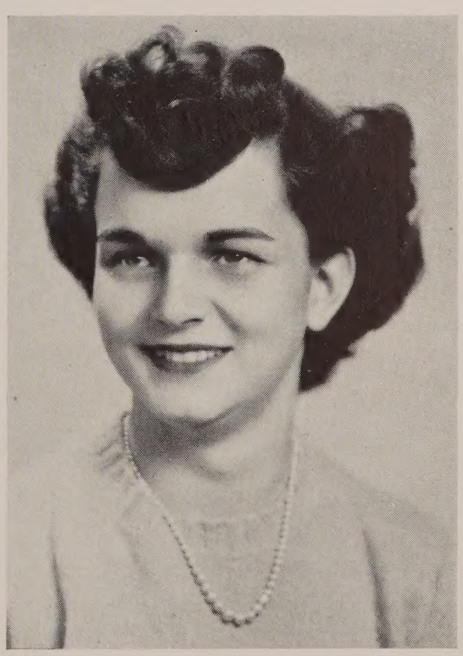
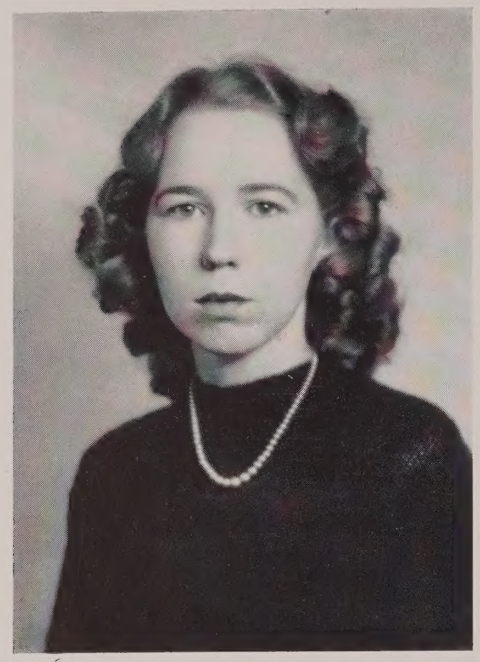
Barbara is one of the eight "Angelites" who reside in the big suite on the first floor. Her long discussions of West Virginia are a delight to all of us, for we love to hear her use that special West Virginia drawl.

Being quite interested in Sullins activities, she was a member of the Commercial Club and the West Virginia Club as well as a lady of the Mardi Gras Court in her Junior year. She has been a member of the Radio Workshop, the Commercial Club, vice-president of the West Virginia Club, an active member of the Peace Activities Committee, and also class editor of the Sampler in her Senior year. We can understand why she overtaxes the phrase "Where does all my time go?"

Now if you should wonder what "Barb" has in mind for the future, ask her and she will tell you an ambition for a good bookkeeping position and later—what every girl wants—marriage.





Martha Carolyn McClellan

Blountstown, Florida Certificate in Art

Give Martha a brush and some paints and you are a friend of hers forever. Artistic, stately Martha enjoys anything from Jon Whitcomb's illustrations to an exciting football game. Although busy with her studies, she often finds time for reading and now and then a chocolate sundae in town. Brown eyes and pepper are her pet likes; short men and men who do not dance are her dislikes.

Active during her two years, she has been a member of the Paint and Palette Club, the Florida Club, and the Radio Workshop, in the latter of which she has been artist during her Senior year. In her Junior year she was a member of the Hoofprints Club and participated in May Day ballet.

Friendly Martha has within her four walls, which we all visit frequently, enough cosmetics to start a beauty shop. We'll not soon forget her understanding and congenial nature.

Anita Melville Gemmell

Bristol, Virginia Certificate in Art

A slim, very attractive, and very talented young lassie is Nita. She is fond of music and art, and a great deal of her time is well spent in the art department. In line with her artistic tastes, Nita names humanities as her favorite subject.

During her Junior year Nita was a member of the Villagers' Club and the Art Club; this year she has been Senior representative to the Senior class from the Villagers' Club. As a Junior, she was vice president of the Art Club.

Children, music, and talk sessions are pleasing to Nita, but she has a distinct dislike for self-centered people and buttermilk. For a pastime Nita prefers walking, listening to music, and writing letters. Nita says her ambition is to have a short career and a long married life, and we feel sure she will be a great success at either or both.

Elma Jean Ellison

Charleston, West Virginia Secretarial Diploma

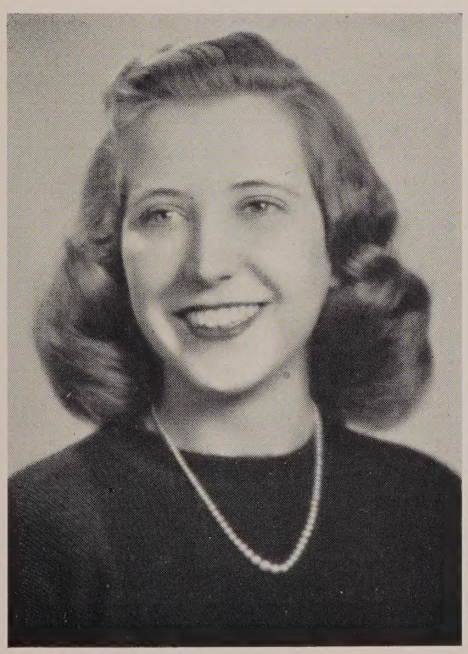
If you like music, you'll love Jean. She is the canary songbird of first floor Senior, and once you have heard her, you just don't want to stop hearing her sing. She puts a song in your heart. Easy-going Jean has her work well done in a short time and spends that extra hour during study hall writing her daily letter.

"Oh! My aching back" is a characteristic saying of another Army brat. Cherry pie tops her list of sweets, and Tommy Dorsey is her favorite swing orchestra. That extra glance in the mirror keeps Jean immaculate and well groomed.

A member of the Pennsylvania Club, the Hoofprints Club, and the Glee Club both years, she also became a member of the Radio Workshop, the Commercial Club, and the Vested Choir during her Senior year. She has done many solos at the Hut parties and in the student recitals.



Jane Marguerite Fritz

Cleveland, Ohio General Certificate

On the ice, Jane is Sonja Henie the second. An expertness in making the figure eight is only one of her many talents. Field hockey, badminton, baseball, and swimming are a few of her numerous favorite sports. Dancing and sentimental music play an important part in her memories of the Navy and good times. Those daily letters and weekly long-distance calls are nothing of the past!

Studious Jane is always seen with a book in her hands; she spends her Mondays preparing for her Tuesday quizzes. Nevertheless, she manages to find time for a game of bridge and is quick to agree when a hot fudge sundae in town is suggested.

At the end of our first semester last year Jane came to Sullins to join the happy family and has been a favorite among us ever since. She has been a member of the Ohio Club both years and a member of the Radio Workshop and the Science Club in her Senior year.

Madelyn Joan Butler

Dade City, Florida General Diploma

Her unusual, cocky hats win the admiration of every Sullins girl. Each has a corner in her heart for Joan's sincerity and magnetic personality. Another favorite article of clothing is gloves, particularly long ones, of which she has many pairs. With these accessories to complete her outfit, she looks like a New York model.

Her love for horses has made her an ardent member of the Hoofprints Club, of which she has been publicity manager. She has also been a member of the Florida Club, the Athletic Association, and the Peace Activities Committee. Last year she danced in the Mardi Gras pageant and in the May Day festival.

As a friendly greeting, Jo's favorite saying is "Hey there, gal." After graduation she plans to enter a four-year college, where she will specialize in radio work.

Jean Waller

Youngstown, Florida Secretarial Diploma

"I have all my homework!" shouts Jean with joy at the end of study hour. Some people wonder why there is always a continuous line outside her door—she is good in accounting. She is most efficient with figures, and we can confidently say she'll be a success as an accountant.

Her suite-mates anxiously wait for the eleven o'clock bell so that they can hear Jean's "bed-time" stories. During the day she is usually deep in concentration on a book or at her studies. A favorite among all, she is an allround girl, interested in sports, particularly riding.

She hails from the South. In both years she has been an active member of the Florida Club, the Athletic Association, and the Commercial Club, of which she was vice-president. We will not soon forget her blonde hair, friendly disposition, and willingness to help.

Ann Jones

Atlanta, Georgia General Diploma

If you value Ann's friendship, be quiet on those free Monday mornings, for nothing displeases her more than to be awakened from a sound sleep. You just can't continue those dreams, can you? Each day she measures her golden locks by the inch and anxiously waits for the day when her hair will be "real" long.

When we hear Georgia Tech mentioned, we realize that we are within hearing distance of Ann. Since she is from Atlanta, it is her favorite school and her favorite item of conversation.

A real Southerner, Ann's love for the South is genuine. Both years she has been a member of the Georgia Club. She was a member of the Hoofprints Club in her Junior year. Chewing a pack of gum a day is Ann's favorite pastime. Possibly this is an aid to the keen concentration which results in good grades.

Nita Almand

Atlanta, Georgia Diploma in Speech

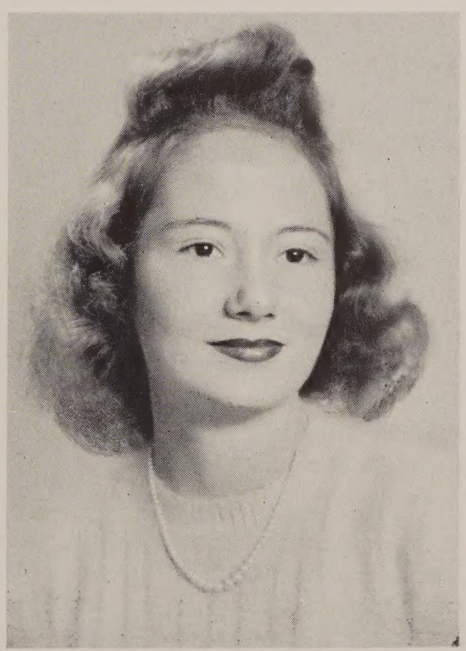
This petite, demure, red-haired Senior has struck an everlasting chord in our hearts. A lover of shoes, she has enough to wear a different pair for every imaginable occasion. Confidentially—a green pair is what she is now desiring.

Her favorite saying is "Never do today what you can do tomorrow," but she does not practice it. She is ready and willing to be of service to anyone at any time. With these qualities, she should be a success as a surgical nurse.

One who has such will power as Nita should receive a medal, for she has not smoked a cigarette since last year. With this will power and determination, she should realize her desire to travel extensively and to visit South America sometime in the future. She has been a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Georgia Club, and the Radio Workshop.



Ann Christopher

Jasper, Alabama General Diploma

"Nan, did I get any mail?" questions Ann when Nan returns from the post office. We are not surprised that she always has a box full of letters, for her sweet disposition wins the love of everyone. She devotes much of her time to rearranging her hair and usually has a different style for every occasion.

Interested in science, Ann plans to be a laboratory technician. Conscientious and reliable, she is sure to make a success.

Never unoccupied, Ann has been very active in the various organizations. During both years she has been a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Alabama Club, and the Science Club. This year she joined the Radio Workshop. When she is not diligently studying her lessons, she enjoys playing a game of bridge or reading a book-length novel.

Harriet Otey

Ardmore, Oklahoma Art Diploma

Originality and personality fit Otey to a "t." Her keen wit and sense of humor make her one we won't readily forget. A touch of her artistic ability adds that essential bit to all her work. Designing and fashioning are her main interests, and we can be sure that success will come to her in her chosen field.

Neat in dress and discriminating in color schemes, Harriet is immaculate in her appearance. She uses her artistic ability in choosing colors to bring out the beauty of her hair.

Copper hair and quick wit make her an "All-American Girl." As a true westerner, she is a member of the Oklahoma Club. Art seems to be the dominating factor in Otey's choice of subjects as well as her main interest. She is a member of the Paint and Palette Club and art editor of the Sampler.

Nan Christopher

JASPER, ALABAMA ART DIPLOMA

Calmness, originality, and initiative should make Nan a success in designing and fashioning clothes. Her slender, trim figure and her neatness and good taste mark her as a well dressed Sullinsite. She just loves new fashions and unusual styles.

Art is Nan's dominating talent and her main interest. The fact that she was elected treasurer of the Paint and Palette Club last year and president this year and her work as art editor of the Sampler are proof enough of her artistic ability.

Home Economics, however, runs a close second among her many likes, and this year she has been an ardent member of the Home Economics Club. She has also been a member of the Alabama Club and is to be Maid of Honor in the May Court.

Elsie Ramsdell

COLORADO CITY, TEXAS GENERAL DIPLOMA

Her willingness to help is characteristic of Elsie. Whenever she can be of some assistance, she is always there to lend a helping hand. Her favorite delight is eating—she is the first one in the dining room and the last one to leave. And still she retains her school-girl figure.

A true Texan, she loves the "lone star" state and has a great delight in telling you about this ranch and that one. In both her years at Sullins she has been a member of the Texas Club.

It is no wonder Elsie is so sweet, for she dearly loves sweet food. A favorite pastime of hers is to lie leisurely in bed with a book in one hand and a candy bar in the other. Another favorite pastime is to swim; we often find her either in the school pool or at Lake Sequoya.

Nancy Layton

Orlando, Florida General Diploma

After an introduction to "Nannie," we are convinced that Florida produces better things than fruit, for she is just the sweetest person we know. She is always for the other person and is considerate of everyone—she has proved that in the Student Council meetings.

Remember those crates of oranges she received from Florida? She has convinced us that an orange a day keeps a cold away.

Being from Florida—and by the way, she has been a member of the Florida Club for two years—she is a sunshine fiend and usually has acquired a dark brown tan by May. When the snows came, she was never indoors; her first sight of snow brought a delighted smile to her face.

When you hear the shuffle of the cards, you know Nannie is there ready for a game of bridge. That game fascinates her, and her pleasing personality fascinates us.

Margaret Ann Elebash

Atlanta, Georgia General Diploma

"To have a friend is to be one" holds true for one of our favorite Seniors, Ann. The friendly smile in her dancing blue eyes makes a stranger want to know her. Like every Senior, Ann dislikes those awakening bells each morning, especially on rainy days, but this is her only real dislike.

When we hear "I nearly dropped my teeth!" ring out, we are sure Ann is among the crowd praising the good qualities of either Annapolis or the Marine Corps. And those evenings of bridge playing when Ann is always willing to play another hand will remain with us.

Ann, a loyal Sullinsite, devotes her untiring efforts to her work as vice-president of our class and as photograph editor of the Sampler. In her two years she has also been an active member of her state club, the Georgia Club. She is one of our most interesting personalities, and she will be our beautiful May Queen.

Nancy Butler

New Canton, Virginia Secretarial Diploma

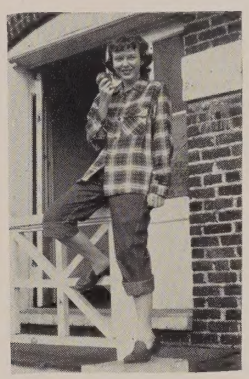
"Smile and the world smiles with you" is Nancy's favorite philosophy, and she rightly applies it in her association with her many friends. She has that contagious smile especially when the subject of food enters the conversation, for she just loves to eat. For those many snacks after lights, Nancy usually has grilled cheese sandwiches with dill pickles as her appetizer.

Nancy confesses that she likes all types of animals, especially horses, and has taken a great interest in her riding classes and in the Hoofprints Club. She has also been an active member of the Virginia Club and the Commercial Club.

Beware! She definitely dislikes the game bridge and refuses to learn to play. Instead, Nancy is a fiend for hats, of which she has many, and she frequently can be seen in the color blue—a pleasing contrast to her red hair.



Jean Bartholomew

Centre Hall, Pennsylvania Secretarial Diploma

If we could all go dancing through life with the ease and grace that Jean possesses, maybe we would all be as popular as she is with all the girls at Sullins. Her talent and ease on the stage in the Mardi Gras pageant and May festival programs have brought her into the limelight as a dancer deluxe.

She is also at ease on a horse and has been a Hoofprints Club member during her two years at Sullins. As a commercial student Jean has made good; in both years she has been active in the Commercial Club. With all this she has managed to be an ardent member of the Pennsylvania Club.

Jean adores dogs, particularly pedigreed cocker spaniels. Another interest of hers is traveling; she frequently takes week-end trips to her home. Black-haired, sincere, attractive Jean is a real Sullins ideal.

Rose Langston

Orlando, Florida Certificate in Accounting

At the sound of a fast musical number, "Tudy" is on her feet in a whirlspin. Her love for high stepping and fast moving in a dance gives her an outlet for that abundant energy. She has pep and personality that extend from her fingers to her toes, and she is acclaimed the "Susie Smith" of the Seniors.

But dancing is not her only talent; she also sings. How can we ever forget her lovely voice in the Glee Club and those solos in the student recitals. Being a long, long way from home—850 miles to be exact—is one of "Tudy's" dislikes. Both years she has been a member of the Florida Club.

During her spare time "Tudy" is usually deep in thought, writing letters or studying. However, she always finds that extra time for a visit either to the Hut or to any Senior's room.

Katherine Neale Stickney

Anniston, Alabama Certificate in Accounting

"Anchors Aweigh" is her theme song, the Navy her favorite branch of the service. Is it any wonder she is swayed in that direction when a daily letter awaits her in box 56? During both years Kittie has been a member of the Alabama Club, in which she has taken an active and enthusiastic part.

"Tudy, I'm hungry" is Kittie's most commonly used phrase. Although she is in the dining hall at the sound of the bell and lingers awhile there after eating, she still keeps the slim girlish figure that we all envy. Nevertheless, she goes for those snacks after lights in a big way.

Perhaps the reason for her urgent anxiety to make that trip to town is a hamburger from the Red, White, and Blue, her favorite place to eat. We will remember Kittie and Tudy as the inseparable two. The memory of her vivacious, pleasing personality will linger with us for a long while.

Martha Carol Martin

Memphis, Tennessee Certificate in Home Economics

Do you need help with your sewing? If so, Carol is the answer to your prayer. With her nimble fingers and a sewing machine she can produce anything. Not only can she sew beautifully, but she can cook perfectly. Her luscious delicacies were among those served at the Senior tea. She knows the way to a man's heart and effectively uses that talent. However, she has captured the hearts of every Sullins girl and is a true friend of all.

During both years at Sullins she has been a member of the Home Economics Club, and the Tennessee Club. In her Junior year she was also a member of the Athletic Association.

A most ardent dislike of Carol's is that task of washing socks. To avoid this task, Carol usually goes "sockless." A favorite hobby of hers is taking pictures. When the weather permits, we can find her out of doors with a camera in her hand.

Dorothy Ann Perryman

Chattanooga, Tennessee Certificate in Home Economics

Dot spends many week-ends in Elizabethton, but these visits do not keep her from having many friends here at school. Her quiet, graceful manner and her willingness to be of help to anyone make her a top favorite on the campus. Not only does she visit away from school frequently, but she also receives many telephone calls. However, when she is talking, she especially dislikes having two other girls in the booth.

Her domestic qualities have made her an ardent member of the Home Economics Club in both years. She has also been a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Athletic Association, and the Tennessee Club.

A Home Economics major, Dot has made the head lines as a good cook and efficient seamstress. She also gets a great delight out of re-arranging her room, which is most attractive.

Jane Partridge Herring

PASCAGOULA, MISSISSIPPI GENERAL DIPLOMA

Slim, shapely Jane is the apple of everyone's eye and the love of everyone's heart. Her pleasing personality and sophisticated manner will win many hearts as she travels the road of success. With these qualities and many more, Jane has made a great success as social chairman of the Senior class.

"Well, we've had it!" sings Jane after that steak dinner at the Bristol, a delight that she looks forward to each week-end. Food is not her only interest, however; she enjoys good music and has a great liking for sailing.

She has been a member of the Mississippi-Louisiana Club both years. As a Junior, she was a lady of the court in Mardi Gras. Another outstanding office to which Jane has contributed her talents and untiring efforts is that of faculty editor of the Sampler.

Carolyn LaVoe Johns

MOBILE, ALABAMA SECRETARIAL DIPLOMA

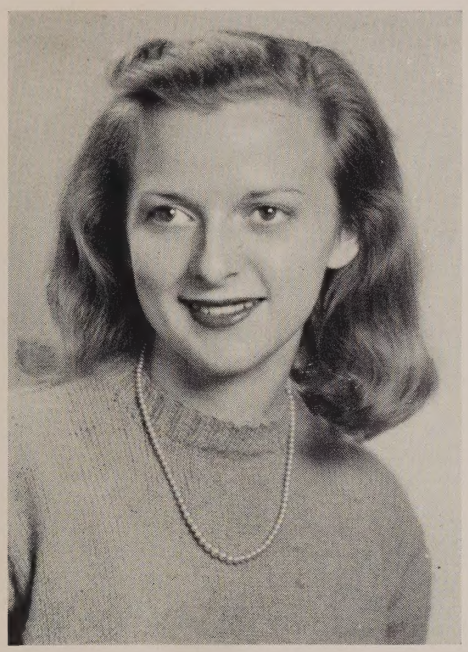
Like most Sullins girls, LaVoe enjoys that daily hand of bridge, and through such practice she has become quite an expert at this card game. But bridge must take a backward step when time comes for "Portia Blake" to appear on the radio. We can be sure she'll be in her room at that time of day.

Usually we find a happy look and a friendly smile on her face, but there is one time of day she just can't smile—before breakfast. She just doesn't understand how anyone can rise in the morning with a song on his lips and a smile on his face.

LaVoe has been a member of the Radio Workshop, the Sullins Players, the Commercial Club, and the Episcopal Club for two years. In her Senior year, she has been secretary of the Alabama Club. "I'm only human," and it's only human for us to claim her "tops" among the Seniors.



Marie Catherine Tonsmeire

Spring Hill, Alabama Secretarial Diploma

"I'll Be Around" holds true for "Kit" when mail time comes twice each day. Together with mail go good music and loads of snapshots for those moments of reminiscing about happy days at Pensacola. Although she is from Alabama, Kit loves to talk about Carolina. Yet she is true to her state, her favorite Alabama spot being Mobile Bay.

She was a member of the Hoofprints Club and the Episcopal Club and secretary of the Athletic Association during her Junior year at school. Then in her Senior year, she has been vice-president of the Alabama Club and a member of the Radio Workshop.

When she speaks of a "rare time," we all know that Kit has either been participating in a horseback ride or doing some swimming at Camp Sequoya. Because of her ability to talk, which is her favorite pastime, Kit will be another successful Sullinsite.

Mary Linville Armistead

Lula, Mississippi Certificate in Stenography

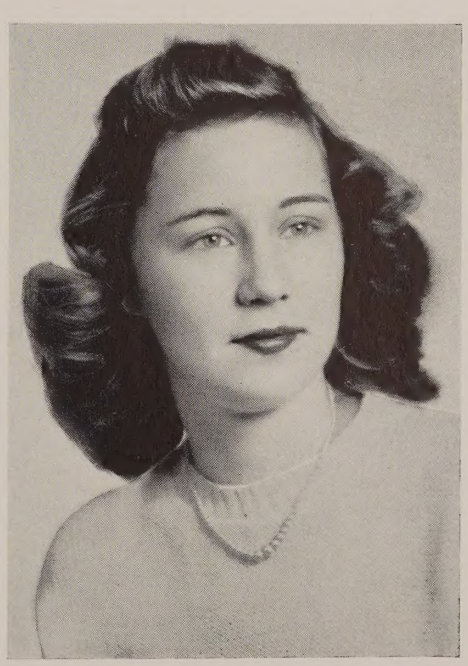
"Tut" gets a "large charge" out of life, and we get a large charge out of her. Her sense of humor and gaiety make her the life of any party and the friend of everyone. She has one dislike, however, and this is talking before breakfast. Any other time of day you can find this friendly Senior in the best of spirits.

During her two years at Sullins, Tut has been a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Radio Workshop, and the Sullins Players. She was secretary of the Mississippi Club in her Senior year.

In her spare time she is usually found at her desk writing a letter to that certain someone in the Merchant Marines. Another pet like of hers is rearranging her room on those Saturday afternoons off. Lively, shapely, vivacious Mary is a friend of ours forever!



Anne Whitehurst

PORTSMOUTH, VIRGINIA GENERAL CERTIFICATE

"Well, do it!" says Anne, and she does it. She is an enthusiastic sports lover and has been a great help on our hockey and basketball teams. Other sports in which she takes great interest are tennis and swimming. Anne is always busy. There is neither an idle nor an uninteresting moment from the time she arises till the time she closes her eyes.

Her friendly personality and pleasant disposition have made her a true friend to every Senior and every Junior. A true Southerner and Virginian, she has been an active member of the Virginia Club, acting as social chairman in her Senior year.

Anne makes friends easily, and with this asset we are sure she will succeed in her chosen field as social worker. She loves to travel, so don't be surprised if you see Anne on your doorstep one of these days.

Dorothy Evelyn Culwell

DALLAS, TEXAS GENERAL CERTIFICATE

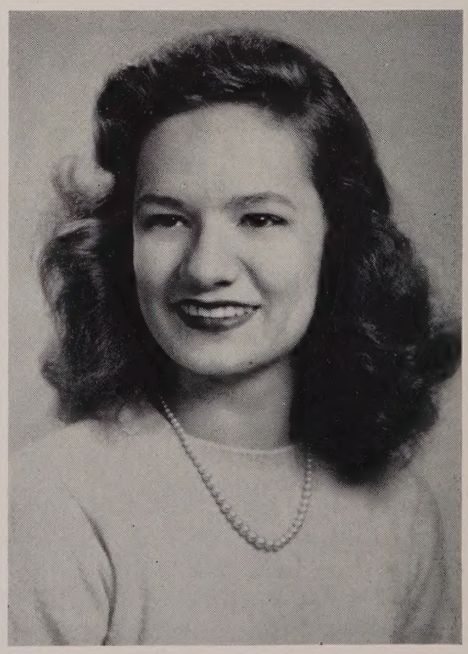
Evelyn has danced right into the hearts of every Senior here. She has enthralled us all by her expert toe dancing in both the Mardi Gras pageant and the May festival. She has taken solo parts in all our dance programs. This year she is participating in the Athletic Association as chairman of dancing.

Together with dancing, "Cully," as she is commonly known on second floor Senior, loves to ice skate and sail. Along with ballet goes her interest in good music. Many of her week-end cuts are taken to visit in Elizabethton. Wonder what the attraction is there? "Hey you all" is the beginning of a discussion in detail about her frequent telephone calls.

She has been a member of the Home Economics Club and the Texas Club during her two years at Sullins. We are sure Evelyn with her varied talents will become a success either at dancing or at cooking.



Mary Lee Summerfield

Rupert, West Virginia General Diploma

Mary Lee adores celery or carrots as a snack after lights. Sometimes she varies her choice of food and eats raisins for that nightly snack. Possibly by this resistance to the calorie foods, she will attain that certain weight.

During much of her spare time she enjoys reading historical novels and various other types of books. Never a Saturday afternoon passes that Mary Lee does not listen to the opera on the radio. Her love for classical music and good literature makes her a good addition to any conversation.

Her love for horses is responsible for her membership in the Hoofprints Club. She has also been a member of the West Virginia Club during her two years. Her indecision about what school she will attend next year presents a baffling problem to Mary Lee. Wherever she decides to go, we can be sure she will be popular.

Verna Elouise Walkup

Rupert, West Virginia Secretarial Diploma

We shall always remember Elouise because of her baby face and her sweet personality. Although she seems quiet and demure, she loves to play pranks on her roommate and suitemates. "Squeeze," as she is known to her friends on second Senior, is one of the few of us who never talks after lights.

An efficient student in her secretarial science subjects, Elouise has been a member of the Commercial Club during her two years. She has also been a member of the West Virginia Club.

We wonder if the exercise of her fingers on the typewriter accounts for her lovely hands. She is a lover of shoes, and her choice of various styles brings out the beauty of her dainty small feet. To know Elouise is to love her. She is just an all-round girl full of pep and liveliness, gaiety and fun.

Jo Ann Norris

Fortville, Indiana Secretarial Diploma

Multiply all the pluses you have ever seen, add them to the word personality, and you have an expression that describes Jo to a "t": personality plus. Her interest in others and her sincere, friendly manner have made her loved by us all. Her infectious smile is always a happy sight to see.

Suggest a trip to the Red, White, and Blue, and Jo is right with you for a hamburger, her favorite Bristol treat. Before that trip home for Christmas she had the will power to say "no" to the extra hamburger in order to retain that girlish figure.

Both years she has been active in many organizations, namely the Glee Club, the Midwestern Club, the Hoofprints Club, the Commercial Club, and the Student Council, of which she has been vice-president this year.

Margaret Jane DeaKyne

Fortville, Indiana General Diploma

This second-floor Senior never misses a day of hearing "Portia Faces Life." To keep in the good graces of Peg, we all remain silent and apparently intrigued by the 5:15 daily program which means so much to our popular Sullinsite. Any other time of day, however, she is willing to enter into any conversation, to dance awhile at the Hut, or to play a set in tennis. There is never a dull moment when Peg is with us.

As a Junior she was a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Midwestern Club, the Science Club, and the Glee Club. In her Senior year she added the Radio Workshop.

Sullins would have never been the same without Peg's loyalty and high ideals which classify her as the perfect college student. After graduation from Sullins she plans to continue her studies at Northwestern.

Mary Louise Williams

Bristol, Virginia General Diploma

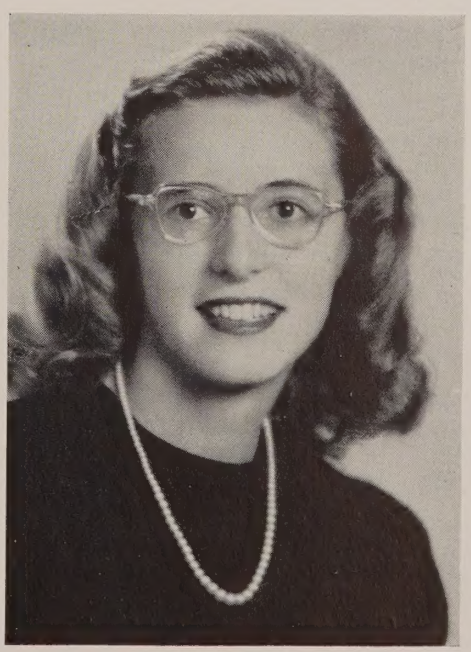
Mary is a rather quiet, studious girl who has become very dear to all of us. She never has too much to say, but when she does say something it is usually worthwhile. During her Junior and Senior years Mary has been a member of the Science Club and the Villagers' Club as well as of the Glee Club.

Mary is very fond of music and this, next to reading, is her chief interest. She likes automobiles, hikes, and "slinky" clothes; but she is not fond of oysters, "know it alls," and cramming before tests—which we doubt she ever has to do.

Mary's favorite pastime is singing, and her voice has added much to the Glee Club. "You don't say" is often uttered by Mary when she is especially surprised by a remark or event. With her scholarly mind and musical ability, we feel sure Mary will continue with her schooling and make a great success of her life.



Nancy J. Sterner

York, Pennsylvania Certificate in Stenography

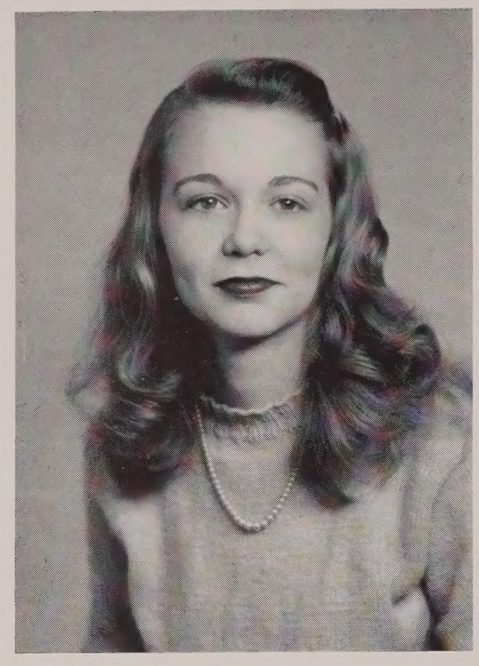
"Goin' riding?" asks cute Nancy when she is making one of her frequent trips to the stables, for riding is her favorite sport. Horses are not her only interest, however; she likes the out of doors and enjoys either swimming at the lake or bowling on a Saturday afternoon in town. On cold, rainy days we can usually find Nancy comfortable in bed engrossed in a good book or short story.

Her spontaneous way of making friends and her enthusiasm in her activities makes her 99 44/100 per cent perfect. Incidentally, she enjoys dancing and would rather step to the rythmic music of an orchestra than eat.

Efficient at handling money and figures, Nancy has been the able treasurer of both the Hoofprints Club and the Pennsylvania Club during the past year. Also she has been a member of the Commercial Club.



Shirley Watkins

COLUMBUS, GEORGIA SECRETARIAL DIPLOMA

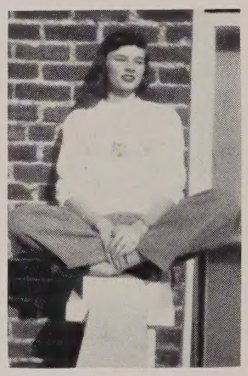
After five minutes with Shirley we are convinced that Georgia grows rare and luscious peaches. Petite Shirley is talented in acrobatic dancing, and we all marveled at her ability to do back bends and hand springs with such ease and grace as she did in the Mardi Gras pageant during her Junior year.

Dancing, however, is only one of her many interests. Swimming, tennis, and ping pong play an important role in her athletic program. Although a commercial student, she is interested in journalism and has marriage in view for later in life. We can be sure that Shirley will be a success in the business world.

Shirley was treasurer of the Commercial Club and a member of the Georgia Club during her Junior year. In her Senior year, she is president of the Commercial Club and treasurer of the Georgia Club.



Patsy Donelson

KNOXVILLE, TENNESSEE GENERAL DIPLOMA

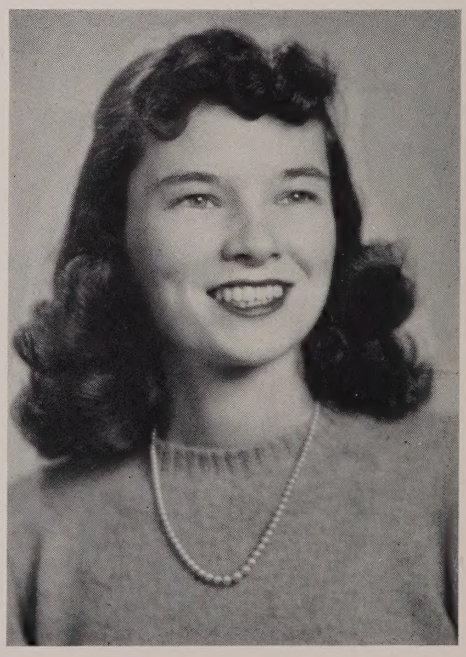
If you are in the mood for a hearty laugh and an enjoyable time, your answer is a visit to Pat's room. Her Southern hospitality, infectious humor, and dynamic personality make her a friend of everyone! Although from Knoxville, she has a secret love for Chattanooga and proudly claims Tennessee the best of the forty-eight.

"So near but yet so far," remarks Pat when asked if she makes frequent visits home for the week-end. Instead, she saved her cuts for a good time at Duke, where she attended the football game—a favorite sport of which she is always an enthusiastic spectator.

When Pat laughs, you laugh with her. But she has her serious moments also, especially when she ably held the office of treasurer in her state club. In her Junior year she was also a member of the Hoofprints Club and a dancer in the Mardi Gras pageant.



Elaine Barbara Jennings

East Lansing, Michigan Certificate in Speech

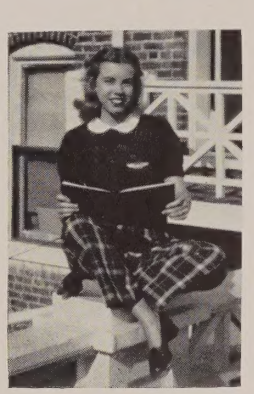
"Don't Fence Me In" can easily be applied to Elaine, because her interests lie mainly with the wide open spaces. When she is not diligently studying, we can usually find her out of doors enjoying horseback riding or longing for a plane or boat ride. It is no wonder one of her pet likes is the Air Corps and those B-25's. But sports are not her only likes; she loves those big juicy T-Bone steaks at Kaylor's.

Though a profound Yankee, Elaine has a great love for the South and some day hopes to visit the deep Southern state of Georgia.

Elaine has taken an active part in Sullins clubs. While a Junior she was a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Midwestern Club, and the Episcopal Club. In her Senior year she remained a member of the same clubs and became a member of the Radio Workshop and the Sullins Players.



Mary Anne Buracker

Columbus, Georgia Diploma in Home Economics

By "Mabie's" daily question "Don't you think my hair has grown longer?" we can truthfully say that her hair and its growth play a major role in her everyday life. But her secondary interest, the Army, is her favorite topic of conversation. Because she is an Army brat, we can easily see why her interests sway to the Army and West Point.

A decision of which to do—play bridge, dance, or eat often presents a baffling problem to Mabie. Either of the three she enjoys equally well; she often is seen at the Hut "killing three birds with one stone."

During her two years she has been active in the Georgia Club and the Science Club. In her Junior year she also belonged to the Army-Navy Club and the Episcopal Club. She has been vice-president of the Home Economic Club in her Senior year.

Margaret Elizabeth Whitehead

SMITHFIELD, NORTH CAROLINA GENERAL DIPLOMA

You can sum up "Mart" in three words: generous, friendly, sincere. With these characteristics, is it any wonder she tops our list of favorites? She enjoys being kept busy and usually spends her spare time writing those frequent epistles to the Army Air Corps.

She's lovely! She's engaged! can well apply to Mart. Her third finger, left hand, is her pride and joy; and when we ask to see the sparkling diamond, her eyes dance with merriment.

An interesting hobby of hers is photography. On a sunny day we can depend on Mart to be out taking snaps of her suite-mates and many friends. Active in organizations, she has been a member of the Radio Workshop, the Athletic Association; during both years she has been a member of the North Carolina Club, of which she has been president this year.

Jeanne L. Posey

LOUISVILLE, KENTUCKY GENERAL CERTIFICATE

Her suite-mates—Margaret, Peggy, and Norma—will tell you that Jeanne is a dream to live with. Her genial disposition and pleasing personality are well known and loved by every one. She is full of funny tales and has a sense of humor that makes us double over with laughter. Is it any wonder she is the life of the party?

When we hear music that we don't quite recognize, we know that "Posey" is singing off key—her favorite activity. But singing is not her main activity; she loves talking, going to the movies, playing bridge, and the Infantry. When asked about that certain Infantry soldier, she remarks, "He's the sweetest boy."

During her two years at Sullins she has been a member of the Radio Workshop and the Kentucky Club. In her Senior year, she has been secretary-treasurer of the latter. She is also a member of the Commercial Club.

Norma Dolph

Muskegon, Michigan Certificate in Speech

Norma is busy from sun up to sun down, and from day to day she looks forward to her frequent trips to town. Her room is like Grand Central Station, always full of her many friends with the radio playing even after that 7:30 bell at night. Her individual way of saying humorous things and her good-nature and carefree manner make her a popular third-floor Senior.

Among her many activities, radio broadcasting seems to interest her most. She often works the controls during a broadcast, and at the monthly Radio Workshop meetings she acts as secretary. Other organizations she has been a member of are the Midwestern Club during both years and the Sullins Players during her Senior year.

After graduation Norma plans to enter a four-year college and continue her radio studies. Her easy-going and friendly disposition makes her a friend we all love.

Peggy Thorp

Fries, Virginia Certificate in Piano

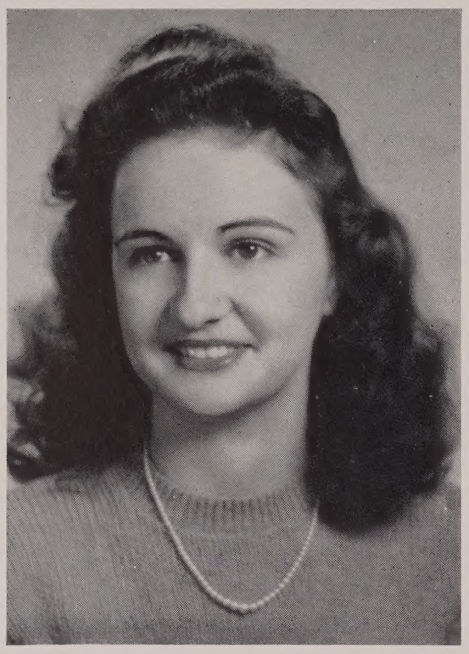
Peggy is the soul of music at the keyboard and has talent in her fingers to bring the real meaning of each selection, whether it be classical or popular, to the ears and the hearts of her listeners. It is no wonder we all love to hear and see her play in the recitals.

But her talent at the keyboard is not her only magnetic attraction. Wherever there is laughter and gaiety, we know P. Thorp is always to be found telling about her humorous experiences or about her brothers, of whom she is proud. When we are with her, we can expect a good laugh or two and a happy feeling. But Peggy has her serious moments too. She is always willing to lend a hand when help is needed.

Last year she was a member of the Episcopal Club. She also played in the symphony. This year she is president of the Virginia Club. She is one of our most interesting personalities.



Elsie Mae Bondurant

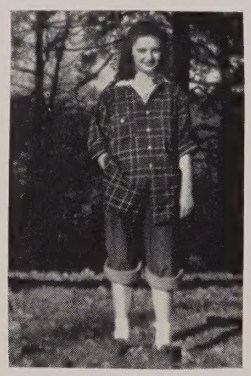
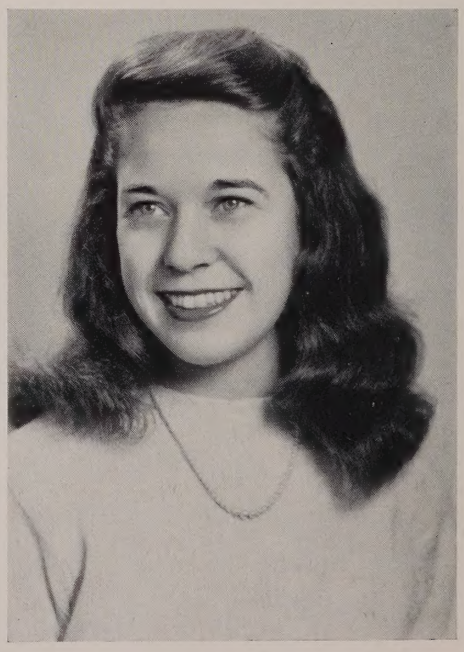
"Vim, vigor, and vitality" readily describes this active, versatile Senior. As her nickname implies, "Sunny" is always seen with a smile on her face and a song in her heart. With her sunny disposition and her whimsical personality, she could paint a silver lining on anyone's cloud.

Sunny has taken an enthusiastic part in varied organizations. For the past two years she has been a member of the Vested Choir, the Glee Club, the Science Club, and the Tennessee Club. She also sings in the choir at the State Street M. E. Church.

In her Junior year, she was our talented accordion player in the school orchestra. She was also a member of the Sullins Players and of the Athletic Association. During her Senior year she has been cheerleader for our class, has joined the Radio Workshop, and has been her state club's able vice-president.





Marilyn Reiber

TEANECK, NEW JERSEY GENERAL DIPLOMA

When we say she is the sweetest girl, we know it is not an exaggerated statement, for she is just that. Sincerity, generosity, and dependability make "Johnny" a dear one to each Senior and Junior.

This meticulous, impulsive Senior is ready for a change at any time. She particularly likes to rearrange her room. Whenever a fourth is needed for a game of bridge, we know Johnny is willing to play. A sound sleeper, she has three alarm clocks to awaken her in the morning, but invariably sleeps on through the noise. Her problem—how to awaken by an alarm clock.

She is unusually versatile—she has been a member of the Sullins Players, the Science Club, the Home Economics Club, the Hoofprints Club, the Radio Workshop, and the New Jersey Club.

Mary Cooksey Swan

Evanston, Illinois General Diploma

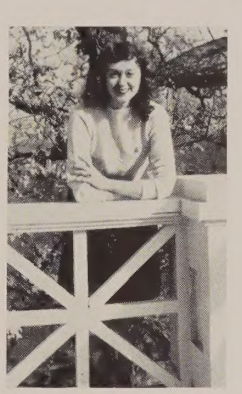
Active and dependable Mary has been a member of many organizations during her two years at Sullins. As a Junior she was a member of the Sullins Players and the Home Economics Club. During both years she has worked conscientiously with the Radio Workshop, the Hoofprints Club, and the Athletic Association.

She has been president of the Midwestern Club in her Senior year. Other officers held in her last year are Senior representative on the Student Council, cheerleader of the Senior Class, chairman of the Senior Peace Activities Committee, and advertising manager of the Sampler.

Busy at work Mary always finds time for those afterlights parties; with her in the crowd, we can depend on a good time. Though what Mary says is frank, we can be sure she has measured her words carefully and that what she has said is of value.



Jean Burney

Macon, Georgia Diploma in Physical Education

Jean is acclaimed by her friends as the popular, friendly Sullins Senior. A favorite with both sexes, Jean likes good food, the Navy, and dancing. Soccer, basketball, and hockey are among her favorite sports. Her knack of always answering letters promptly is reason enough for the constant overflow of letters in her mail-box.

That certain way she drawls "you all" with her Georgia accent is just one of the many things we'll remember Jean for. With her infectious smile and even disposition, Jean will be a success when she begins her work in the outside world.

In her Junior year Jean was a member of the Radio Workshop, the Georgia Club, the Science Club, and the Athletic Association. This year she was made vice-president of the Georgia Club, treasurer of the Science Club, and president of the Radio Workshop.

Betty Mitchell Moore

Atlanta, Georgia Diploma in Home Economics

Sullins has claim to a celebrity, for here in our midst is a cousin of Margaret Mitchell. This relationship, however, has not altered Betty's delightful manner of genuine friendship. Honest, sincere, and trustworthy, Betty is a friend to everyone.

A Home Economics major, Betty has made many delicacies both in class and for third floor Senior. She usually prepares those frequent snacks in suite 233-234. Another favorite pastime of hers is to rearrange the furniture in her room. Each time you visit her room, you notice the attractive arrangement.

Her many and varied extra-curricular activities have kept this petite Senior busy during her spare time. This year she has been a member of the Hoofprints Club and of the Georgia Club, reporter for the Home Economics Club, vice-president of the Science Club, and organizations editor of the Sampler.

Ruth Harover

Manchester, Ohio Diploma in Voice

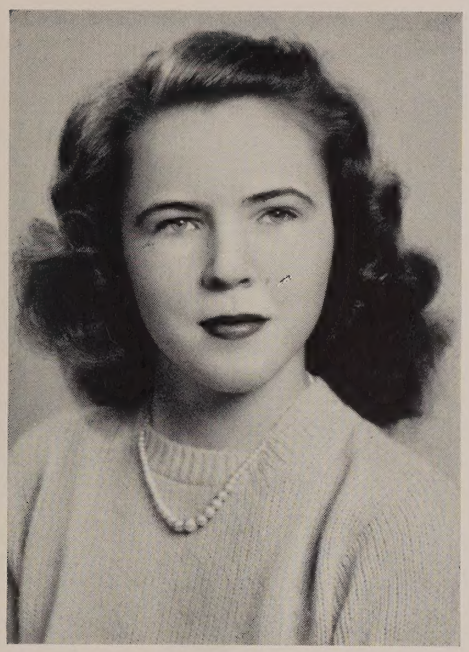
Our only voice major, Ruth has made singing a delight and enjoyment to us all during those frequent serenades and song sessions. In both years she has lent her talents to the Vested Choir and the Glee Club, and this year she is working diligently on her graduation recital.

Besides singing she enjoys such sports as ping pong and badminton. Letter-writing takes most of her spare time, but she often takes enough time from her studies and composing her epistles to read a good book.

Ruth manages to get an early start at sunbathing. We can usually find her baking at the rock quarry during those sunshiny days in the spring. Her hard work attaining a good tan usually brings a golden brown to her fair complexion by the end of May. A quiet, gracious personality marks Ruth as one of our best liked Seniors.



Sallie O'Neal

Ozark, Alabama General Diploma

Whenever we enter the book store, we find Sallie there at the stationery counter. She has a reason, too, with all her correspondence, especially with that certain one to whom she has become engaged. Just take a look at that be-e-eautiful diamond on her third finger, left hand.

Quiet, sweet, lovable Sallie just loves those free periods when she can re-read her daily letters and play a game or two of bridge before that final bell. Those cheeseburgers from the Red, White, and Blue, with a milk shake, complete her favorite mid-day snack.

The old adage, "a place for everything and everything in its place," is what Sallie firmly believes. Possibly this explains why she always keeps her room so neat and clean. She is chic in appearance and dress. She has been a member of the Hoofprints Club, the Alabama Club, the Science Club, and the Paint and Palette Club.

Elizabeth Ann Dennett

Canton, North Carolina General Diploma

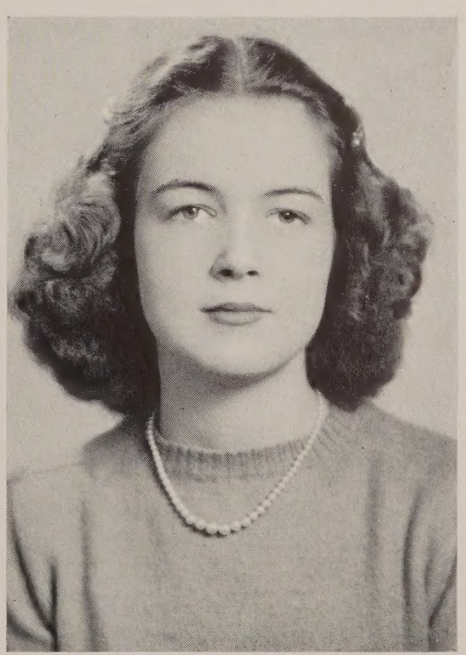
Betty Ann must know the "way to a man's heart" with all those letters filling her mail box from boys all over the world. She is so versatile and full of enthusiasm and has such a pleasing, friendly way about her that she has won many hearts during her two years at Sullins.

Suggest cabbage and you see Betty Ann's smile turn to a frown, for that is one dish she dislikes. Nevertheless, she will gladly eat a sea-food meal of any kind. Her frequent attendance at the Sullins dances makes her love for dancing and music apparent.

Although she is busy with her varied activities in the Hoofprints Club, the North-South Carolina Club, the Glee Club, and the Science Club, she always has time for a game of bridge which—by the way—she is just learning, or for a chat with her many friends.



Lorraine C. Moston

Maywood, Illinois Art Diploma

When we visit "Larry," we usually find an empty room, for she spends most of her time in the art studio. Need I say that art dominates her interests? For the past two years she has been a member of the Paint and Palette Club, the Hoofprints Club, and the Midwestern Club.

If ever you are "up a tree" with something, Larry can solve your problem, for she accepts responsibility with the greatest of ease. How can we ever forget her untiring efforts in decorating for the Black-and-White Ball?

Larry always has a can opener, and anyone on fourth floor Senior who can't find her own borrows Larry's. Can opener or anything else, she is always generous and willing to share with others. This trait combined with a sweet and lovable disposition makes her tops among the Seniors. We will remember her dieting spells and that will-power to resist those tempting steaks.

Ingrid Mortenson

Hyattsville, Maryland General Diploma

"Inkie" is one who has strong opinions; it is hard to influence her by arguing or in any other way. Once her mind is made up, it can't be changed. And we certainly can't change our warm, devoted feeling towards her. Although quiet, she has that certain power that makes everyone her friend.

When we visit Inkie, we notice her neat, clean room and a friendly air that makes us come back again and again. Usually she is industriously working on her homework, but she always has time for a few minutes of chat.

This blonde, feminine girl takes a great interest in horses—in fact, she never fails to be among the crowd on those Sunday afternoon rides, and she attends the Hoofprints Club meetings regularly. Another interest of hers is dramatics; during her Junior year, she was a member of the Sullins Players.

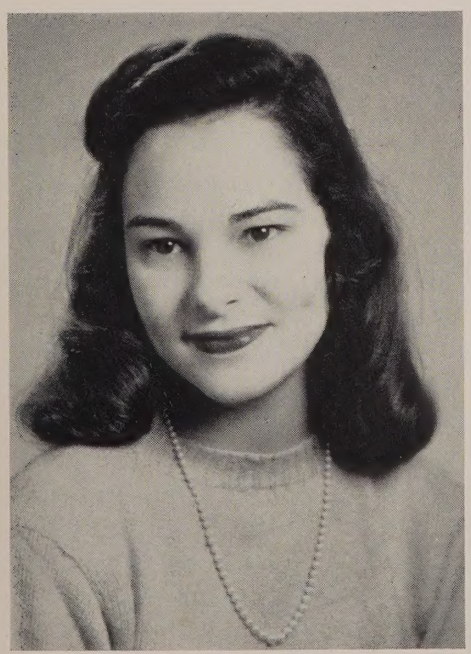
Elizabeth Jean Chaires

TAMPA, FLORIDA

Betty likes to do things, especially those things which help her get the most out of life. Visiting post-office box 116 with mail in it twice a day and once on Sunday and figuring out different types of people constitute her favorite pastimes. In the athletic field she particularly likes to play basketball; she played on the team in her Junior year. Although she admits that she does not know a thing about golf, she loves to play it.

During both years she has been a member of the Florida Club, of which she was vice-president during her Senior year, and also has taken an active part in the Athletic Association.

Full of fun with a good sense of humor and a personality that sparkles with enthusiasm, Betty is a friend we won't easily forget. Her love for psychology may help her in her study of interesting people in the future.



Alma Marie Florez

TAMPA, FLORIDA GENERAL DIPLOMA

Beaches and travel—these two interest Alma most of all. Since she is a Florida lassie, we can easily understand her love for beaches and swimming. However, these are not her only interests; she also likes to loaf, to eat, and to play tennis or basketball. She plays the latter very well, proving her ability by being a member of the team.

Life can't always be a bed of roses; everyone has her pet dislikes and Alma has her share too. It displeases her—as it does most of us—to hear the seven o'clock bell each morning and the eleven o'clock bell each night.

She loves that sunny state and during both years has been a member of the Florida Club. She has also been a member of the Athletic Association. Fourth floor Senior would not be the same without Alma to help make the unforgettable times after lights.

Jane Watson Fagg

Morristown, Tennessee General Diploma

Another penthouse favorite is Jane, who spends a lot of her time reading. This, however, is only one of her interests, for along with it go swimming and hiking. She also loves chocolate cake, fried chicken, and steak. She has a vivacious personality and a genuine friendliness that put everyone around her in a happy mood.

"You know what I mean, don't you?" brings us to the end of a discussion about Jane's frequent week-end trips home. Her unceasing, abundant energy carries her through even after the eleven o'clock lights.

In her two years at Sullins "Watty," as she is popularly known to all her friends, was a member of the Tennessee Club. She has been treasurer of that organization during her Senior year. During her Junior year she was a member of the Glee Club. When we hear that yell coming from the Senior class, we know it is Watty who inspires us through her efforts as one of the Senior cheerleaders.

Mae M. Lilly

Williamson, West Virginia Secretarial Diploma

Mae has been a popular Sullinsite for three years, first as a Senior in the Academy and then as a college student. We think of her as something big dehydrated into a five-foot individual, because she has always been very active in class work and as a leader in many organizations.

Versatile Mae enjoys watching people, hearing music and reading books. The mention of food and her eyes gleam, especially when a steak or ice cream is suggested. A great basketball enthusiast, Mae plays on the basketball team and enjoys swimming.

In her Junior year she was vice-president of the West Virginia Club and secretary of the Student Council. Also in that year she was a member of the Commercial Club and the Athletic Association. The next year she joined the Radio Workshop and became the efficient business manager of the Sampler.

Pat Breech

Victoria, Texas General Diploma

Pat has music from the tips of her fingers to the tips of her toes. She has the ability not only to play the piano but also to sing; she has been a member of the Glee Club and the Choir during both her years at Sullins. We can always depend on Pat to help make those parties at the Hut successful.

We were successfully guided under the efficient leadership of Pat as our class president during our Junior year. That same year she was a member of the Texas Club. This year she has made an excellent secretary of the Senior class, of the Texas Club, and also of the Sullins Players.

Other than music, Pat's chief interests are dramatics, literature, and poetry. She keeps as busy as a beaver either practicing her piano with grand results or having fun at the Hut. Versatile Pat also loves sports, particularly swimming and tennis. Both years she has been one of our most interesting personalities.

Martha DePass

Miami Beach, Florida General Certificate

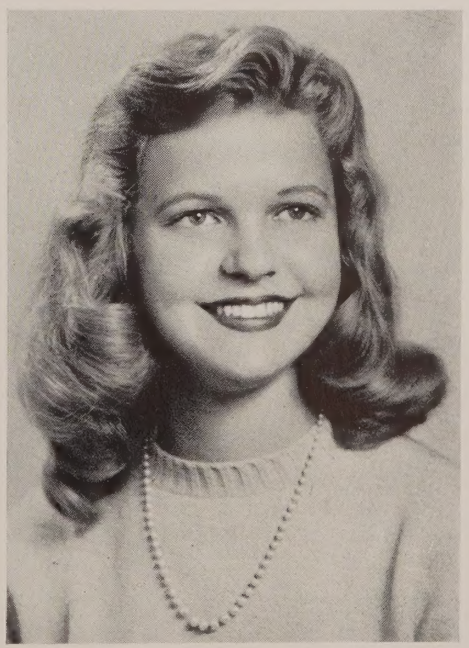
Beauty unadorned— that's Marty! A slim, stately blonde with an infectious smile, Marty is one of the top beauties on the hill. Her exquisite taste in dress won her the title of one of the best-dressed girls at Sullins. She was also a lady of the Mardi Gras Court last year.

In her Junior year she held the office of secretary of the Episcopal Club; she was also a member of the Army-Navy Club, the Sullins Players, the Athletic Association, the Florida Club, and of the Choir and the Glee Club. This year she was made treasurer of the Florida Club and president of the Sullins Players.

In the athletic line-up Marty participated in the swimming meets and led our Junior class as a pep plus cheerleader. Both years she has been one of the most interesting personalities.



Elaine Foster Huber

Dayton, Ohio General Certificate

Each note of "Peachy's" mellow voice strikes a high note in each one of our hearts. She has sung in the Glee Club and in the Vested Choir during both her years here. Her frequent solos at the Hut parties always bring an encore or two, and her sacred solos sung at Vespers give us a reverent feeling.

Coupled with her voice are a serene smile and a pleasant atmosphere of friendliness. She enjoys meeting people and is very much interested in social work. Versatile Peachy is also happy behind a hockey stick or using her excess energy at swimming.

When a Junior, Peachy was a lady of the Mardi Gras court. Her leadership ability was proved to us all by her efficient work as vice-president of the Junior class. She has twice been elected one of our most interesting personalities.

Joy Dobry

Elk City, Oklahoma Diploma in Speech

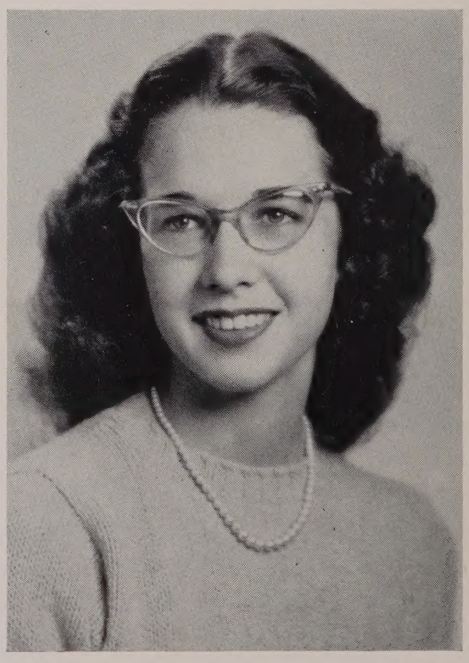
Those Monday mornings with the opportunity to turn over when the rising bell rings and sleep an extra hour are a delight to Joy. Once out of bed, however, she is busy either at a tennis game or day dreaming about the Navy Air Corps. Always immaculate, Joy is known for her good grooming and good taste in clothes.

Time and money present a baffling problem to Joy, but such things as trying to budget her dollars and hours give her little worry. Her daily delight is to peek in to her mail box and find the 8" by 8" space filled with letters.

In both years she has been president of the Oklahoma-Missouri Club and a member of the Athletic Association. As a Senior she is publicity manager of the Sullins Players and a member of the Glee Club and the Radio Workshop. Incidentally, she is one of our most interesting personalities.



Harryette Campbell

Lilbourn, Missouri General Diploma

Harryette is one of our penthouse favorites. As president of the Athletic Association, she has shown a great liking for all sports and has played with enthusiasm in the competitive games. But sports are just one of her many interests.

When that rising bell rings, Harryette rolls over in bed for an extra minute of sleep. Once she is up, she is constantly an the go, either busily swimming or playing tennis or basketball. During her hours of relaxation we can find her either engrossed in a good book or concentrating on a hand of bridge.

In her Junior year she was a member of the War Activities Committee and trombone player in the Sullins orchestra. During her Senior year she has been vice-president of the Oklahoma-Missouri Club, and, naturally, she is one of our most interesting personalities.

Nancy Elizabeth O'Brien

Glencoe, Illinois General Diploma

Jovial "O'Bee" is a friend to everyone. Her wit and humor are tonics for anyone who needs a lift from that down-in-the-dumps feeling. Her cheerful disposition and fun-loving nature make her a favorite among all the students, as is shown by the fact that she is included in our most interesting personalities.

Although from Illinois, she maintains a hope for a farm in Connecticut which overlooks the Atlantic ocean and has a dock full of motor and sail boats. Her favorite pastime is taking exercises to retain those curves in the right places.

Interested in athletics and dramatics, Nancy was a member of the Athletic Association, the Sullins Players, and the Midwestern Club in her Junior year. In her Senior year, she is a member of the Glee Club and chairman of tennis in the Athletic Association.

Mary Louise Martell

Madison, Wisconsin Diploma in Speech

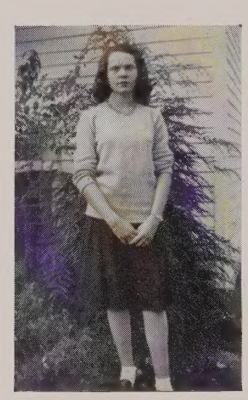
Whenever we see a radio, we are instantly reminded of Mary Lou. Why? Because she takes an active part in the Radio Workshop and frequently can be heard over WOPI on the Sullins weekly programs.

Confidentially—that Annapolis miniature on her third finger, left hand, means marriage in the future. Is it any wonder that her heart is for the Navy, and our hearts are for her?

Writing letters occupies much of her spare time. Although she is busy with this occupation and participating in such sports as basketball, baseball, and badminton, she always finds time for a game or so of bridge.

During both her years at Sullins, she has belonged to the Midwestern Club and the Sullins Players. Last year, she was secretary-treasurer of the Midwestern Club. This year, she is vice-president of the Sullins Players.



Dorothy Virginia Bullock

Bristol, Tennessee Secretarial Diploma

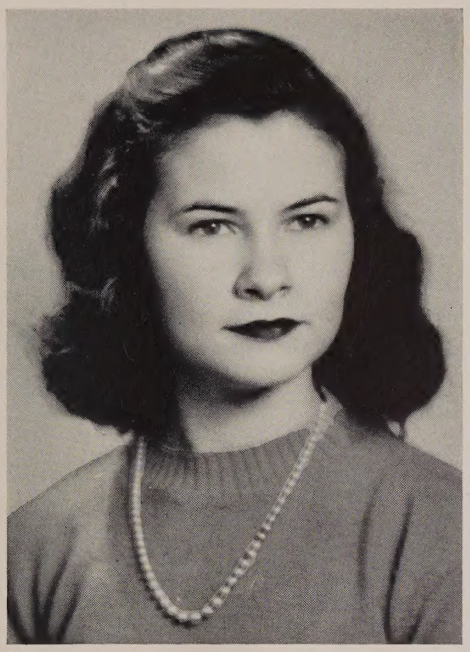
Quiet in manner, friendly in smile, and most adept in musical ability is Dorothy. She is very studious and is usually rushing in and out of the Villagers' room to a music lesson, a class, or the practice room.

She says piano is her most interesting subject and music her chief interest. From her recitals it is easy to see that her time has been well spent. Dorothy dislikes writing letters and finds it hard to cram them into her busy daily schedule.

She is able, though, to find time for reading, bicycling, and hiking. Dorothy is a very placid, easy-going person, and her best friends tell us that her strongest utterance in times of stress is "My word!" Because of her quiet, unassuming air and her attractiveness, we shall remember Dorothy as one of our most pleasant classmates.



Marguerite Laverne Wilson

Grenada, Mississippi General Diploma

Laverne's middle name should be the word "sweet," for she is about the sweetest girl we know. Her bridge game is excelled by none in Senior wing, and her keen wit is tops among her characteristics.

Even the loud sound of a fire cracker does not bring a flinch from her; she still goes at her own moderate pace. Nevertheless, she accomplishes what's to be done within a reasonable length of time; so (and I quote) "you all, I'm not so slow." This tiny Senior makes herself taller with those high heel shoes which she loves and frequently wears.

The Army Air Corps is first in her heart; and the Mississippi-Louisiana Club, the Radio Workshop, and the Science Club rank first in her activities. As president of the Science Club, she was largely responsible for the success of the bridge party sponsored by the club.

Margaret Lougenia Spain

Grenada, Mississippi General Diploma

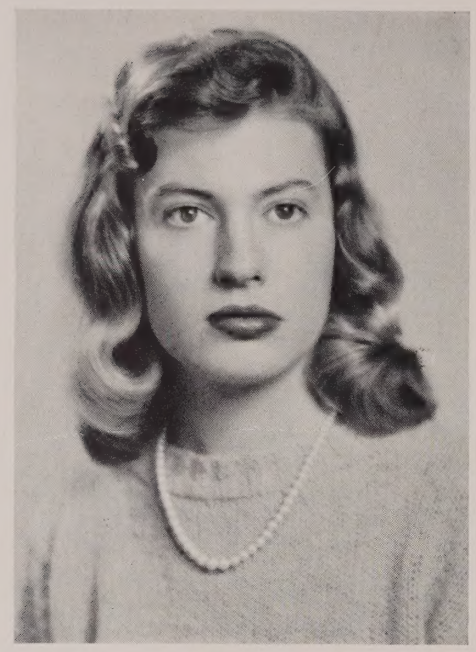
Being treasurer of the Senior Class, Margaret has come into frequent contact with many of the girls, and everyone of us likes her. She is also a member of the Science Club and of the Mississippi Club.

During her spare time she is usually playing tri-solitaire with her two roommates, but that is only one of her many pet likes. Versatile Margaret is an all-round girl when it comes to sports. She especially likes to swim and to play tennis and basketball.

If you want to be a friend of Margaret, remember not to awaken her on Monday morning when she wants to sleep. Otherwise, you need not fear displeasing her. Her boxes from home call for a party on fourth floor Senior. Her willingness to share with others and her untiring efforts for the Senior class have contributed much to our class spirit.



Charlotte Louise Jones

Enid, Oklahoma General Diploma

Do you need a morale tonic to lift your spirits? Then your solution is to visit "C. J.," whose witty humor and friendly nature becomes your best remedy for any ailment. Versatile C. J. also has her serious moments, especially when she is talking about medicine and about her plans for becoming one of the efficient woman doctors of the country.

Although C. J. is from Oklahoma, she is a true Texan at heart. In both her years at Sullins she has been a member of the Texas Club; in her final year she has been treasurer of that organization.

Also in both years she has taken an active part in the Science Club. While a Junior she was a member of the Athletic Association and participated in the Mardi Gras. Long after we leave Sullins, we shall remember C. J.'s lively and vivacious personality. She has twice been elected one of our most interesting personalities.

Jean Scott Burt

Memphis, Tennessee General Diploma

If we should happen to hear a noise in the hall about four in the morning, we would know it is Jean roaming around from room to room to find some one awake and ready to talk with her. Although sensible and serious-minded in class and with her studies, Jean is known for her absent mind when looking for something she has misplaced. She just can't understand why the lost article isn't in its proper place.

Slacks and plaid shirts are Jean's favorite outfit. Solitaire, bridge, and lounging at the Hut are her favorite occupations. Whenever and wherever Jean is, she must have the radio playing, whether there are soap operas or good music on the program.

She wants to learn to fly and plans to take a trip to Europe with her suite-mates. In her Junior year she was a member of the Mardi Gras Court. At the present time she is a member of the Tennessee Club and assistant advertising manager of the Sampler.

Jane Dalrymple

Amory, Mississippi General Diploma

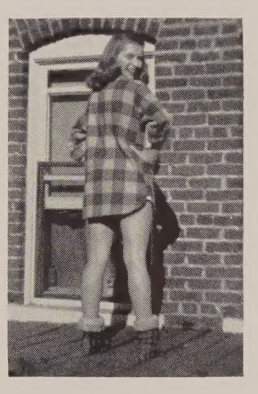
We just love to hear Jane pronounce her state name with that southern accent. Whenever we hear that Mississippi drawl, we know she is in the crowd laughing and being the life of the party. Her extensive wardrobe with the color lime predominating and her shining golden locks make her the center of attraction in any crowd.

When we think of Jane we think of her riding horseback, her most loved sport. She has acquired a lot of her knowledge about horses from participating in the Hoofprints Club and from her weekly riding lessons.

Interested in all types of science, particularly chemistry, Jane has been an active member of the Science Club during her two years. She has also been the able vice-president of the Mississippi-Louisiana Club. Jane's good sense of humor brings a hearty laugh at the slightest funny thing said. Attractive, sweet—Jane is a favorite.



Sarah Scribner

Amory, Mississippi General Diploma

The mechanic of Sullins is Sally, the cigarette-lighter fixer. And she has fixed a place in our hearts by her lovable, friendly smile and her quiet and charming manner of making everyone her friend.

I "can't begin to tell you" how many fine, elegant qualities Sally possesses, nor about her many likes and dislikes. Blonde cocker spaniels, perfume, black sophisticated dresses, and lemon meringue pies are only a few of her many interests. Her two main dislikes are days without mail and getting up in the morning. Once she is out of bed, she is active until that eleven o'clock bell at night.

Being social chairman of the Mississippi-Louisiana Club and a member of the Hoofprints Club has kept Sally a busy girl. Can we ever forget her unusual way of rolling her hair and her town paper, "The Weekly Wipe?"

Nancy Jane Srygley

Glen Ridge, New Jersey General Diploma

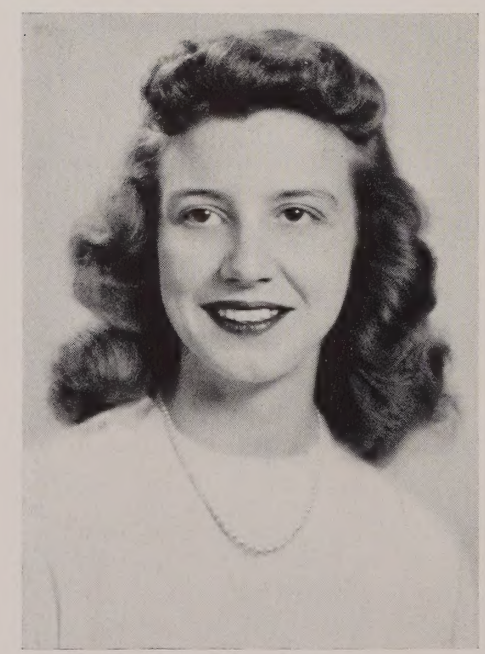
Nancy lives by her philosophy, "Rise and shine," for she is usually the first one out of bed in the morning and is on her merry way bright and early. Possibly her excess energy and enthusiasm in sports play a large part in her early rising. As guard on our basketball team, she has really made a name for herself and a hit with every Sullins girl.

"That's the spirit" is always an encouraging phrase from Nancy when we are playing with her on the hockey field. Interested in sports Nancy has been a member of the Athletic Association both years and has served as vice-president during her Senior year. Last year she was a member of the Student Council. Other organizations she has been a member of are the Hoofprints Club and the Yankee Club.

We cannot soon forget her many hand knitted sweaters, her dry wit, and the crowning glory of dark hair worn Veronica Lake style.



Shirley Elizabeth Edmondson

Albany, New York General Diploma

"Oh! My word!" exclaims Shirley when she hears a thriller of an experience from her roommate or spies a pile of letters that she has received all in one afternoon.

Immaculateness in appearance, which made her one of the best dressed girls in her Junior year, and a personality that sparkles with friendliness are only two of her many fine qualities. A lover of the Air Corps is a friend of Shirley's, for her main interest lies in flying.

An enthusiastic athlete, Shirley loves the out-of-doors and takes an important part in the hockey and basketball tournaments. She has been most co-operative in all her activities, which include the Yankee Club, the Hoofprints Club, and the Athletic Association. Last year she was a lady in the Mardi Gras court. This year she is athletics editor of the Sampler.

Jean Allen Wilson

Hammond, Indiana General Diploma

"Lights, action, curtain"; these are the words of talented Jean when the time comes for that play to go on after she has worked so diligently directing it. But directing is only a part of her work in dramatics. She also takes the lime-light in many of our three and one-act plays. Both years she has been very active in the Sullins Players.

Her ease and grace in meeting people and her interest in social work have gained many friends for her. Along with these admirable assets, Jean is known for her generosity and sweet disposition.

She has been a member of the Hoofprints Club and the Midwestern Club for two years. Her interest in the Army Air Corps may be the reason for her favorite pastime—letter writing. We shall always remember Jean as the second Bette Davis, not only in looks but in her acting talent also. She is one of our most interesting personalities.

Phyllis Elizabeth Pierce

Shreveport, Louisiana General Certificate

"P. P." as her friends on fourth floor Senior have shortened her last year's pet name "Pep", has o-o-oodles of personality. Although she has had many visits from her numerous male admirers, her heart now belongs solely to one who is in the Army Air Corps.

The many letters she receives daily and the frequent visits of the florist make Phyl the happiest Senior alive. The sweet fragrance of her roses and the liveliness of her friendly disposition make her room a pleasure to visit. Chewing gum and a collection of popular records are two of Phyl's main interests.

She is a busy little bee trying to figure the best solution for her financial problems, but somehow manages to be a member of the Athletic Association and president of the Mississippi-Louisiana Club. She is also one of our most interesting personalities.

Elsie Mae Silverman

Little Rock, Arkansas Certificate in Home Economics

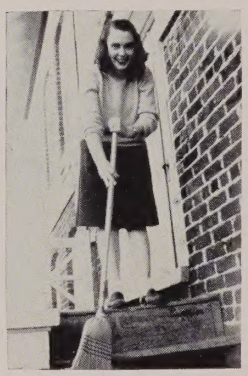
Our able president of the Home Economics Club has given proof of her ability and nimble fingers with the sewing machine. Neat and quick with the needle, she has produced many original designs and unusual dresses. Her love for costume designing, sewing, and cooking is reason enough for her efficiency in the home and for her ambition—marriage.

Along with her talent for sewing, Elsie enjoys both swimming and sailing. We cannot forget her love for hamburgers and hot fudge sundaes.

Elsie's frequent week-ends at Annapolis and West Point add a delightful touch to her tales of what happened when. And her love for music, especially Tommy Dorsey, and for all sports gives her a well-rounded personality. During both years, she has been a member of the Arkansas Club.



Susan Cooper

Columbus, Georgia Secretarial Diploma

Susan is one Senior you just can't help but like. Her way of saying funny things in a serious tone brings out her dry wit and humor. A party with her in the crowd really is a laughing success. Her good-nature and unselfishness make us realize that better things than peaches are grown in Georgia.

Easy-going, care-free Susan dislikes the word "hurry" and instead enjoys taking life easy and mastering her studies from day to day. Her main difficulty, which she has tried to overcome this year, is in mastering the correct twist of the body as she climbs from the top bunk. Her only pet dislike is to make up her bunk each day, but she has atttained the systematic way of doing this job with little effort.

She has been a member of the Commercial Club both years; in her Senior year, she is the able president of the Georgia Club.

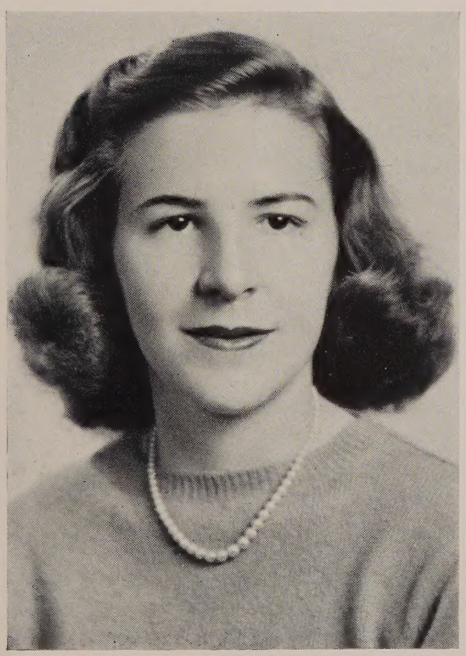
Elizabeth Ann Hewes

Moorestown, New Jersey

Betsy is as much at ease out on the hockey field as she is in her Dad's easy chair at home. Her love for sports of all kinds has been displayed in excellent and untiring efforts as a member of the basketball team, the hockey team, and the soccer team and as captain of the baseball team. In her Junior year she was winner of the tennis tournament.

She enjoys not only sports but also college life and several hands of bridge. During both her years at Sullins, Betsy has been an ardent member of the Athletic Association, the Sullins Players, and the Yankee Club. Last year she participated in several one-act plays.

During her free time, Betsy is usually engrossed in a game of bridge in which she over bids; but by her skill she is often known to make it. We shall always remember Betsy's black hair and freckles and her engaging smile.



Mary Bess Altgelt

San Antonio, Texas General Diploma

Certificate in Equitation

Another horse lover is Bess. Her particular like is show horses, and she has represented Sullins in several shows. Often we see her climbing the hill from a ride or from a meeting of the Hoofprints Club. Both years she has been an ardent member of this organization. In her Senior year she is its able secretary. An active member of other organizations, she has given her untiring efforts to the Texas Club, serving as vice-president, and to the Science Club. She is also a member of the Athletic Association.

Her only real dislike is dusting out the mail box. However, this job does not have to be done often, for she is popular both at home and at school. Her charm and genial manner keep her surrounded by friends.

Bess is very easily pleased. She likes the Red, White, and Blue's doughnuts, bridge, and good music—especially Chopin's "Polonaise."

Betty Jane Warner

KULPSVILLE, PENNSYLVANIA GENERAL CERTIFICATE

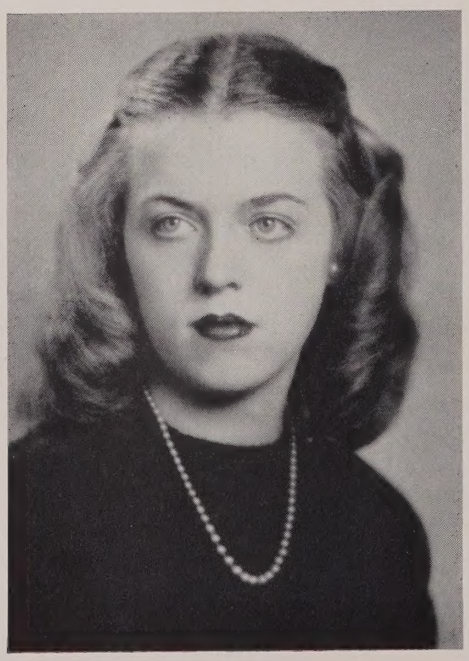
"A terror for her size," Betty is always busy planning her home and collecting new ideas for after that day in June. When she returned to school after the Christmas holidays, she brought with her a pride and joy that is worn on the third finger, left hand. Do we blame her for that enchanting smile we see twenty-four hours each day?

Friendly Betty enjoys crowds and loves to meet and talk with people. Her interest in music is known to every Senior because whenever we are near second floor, Senior, we can invariably hear the soothing melody of a new popular song or a concerto.

Betty has been a member of the Sullins Players, the Glee Club, and the Pennsylvania Club during her two years. She was elected secretary of her state club in her Senior year.



Marilyn Claire Overbay

MIDDLETOWN, INDIANA SECRETARIAL DIPLOMA

"Let me tell you," begins Lynn after a week-end at home or a trip to town. Never a dull moment when Lynn is around makes her one of the most interesting and loved friends on the campus.

It must be "snazzy" to have the ability to complete a test before half the period is over and still receive an A for one's work. Alert, quick to learn, and accurate in remembering, Lynn makes us green with envy. Always willing to help, she has been an active member of the Midwestern Club for two years.

During her spare time she is often at the Hut, which she calls her second home, or working at the switchboard. When Lynn is not on her toes in a dance at the Hut or at our formal dances, she is usually in her room admiring the photograph of her roommate's younger brother.

In Appreciation

Yes, Bristol is a good place to live. We have found it so, and we shall remember it whenever we turn the pages of this Sampler. This Senior Class joins with the Sampler staff in expressing its appreciation to the merchants of Bristol for their cooperation in making this Sampler possible by their generosity in contributing to the advertising in this section.

We wish also to express our appreciation to Marilyn Eaton for the sketches in the Feature section. We want to thank Mr. Howard Simpson of Charlotte, North Carolina, for his excellent class and faculty photographs.

And to The King Printing Company of Bristol and the Bush-Krebs Company of Louisville, Kentucky, the Sampler staff acknowledges its debt of gratitude for the splendid work which has helped to make this book what it is.

They're gettin' cold feet!
